CRETE TIDE OF BATTLE TO BRITISH

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—A turn in Britain's favor in the furious battle to wipe out Nazi aerial invasion of Crete while British naval guns were shattering attempts to get sea-borne reinforcements to the invaders was indicated today in advices reaching London.

A report from Cairo military sources said severe fighting was still in progress around the Malemi airport, near Suda Bay, but that the trend at other invasion points on the northwest part of the island definitely was to Britain's advantage.

HAND-TO-HAND FIGHTING

A later communique from Cairo said German air-borne detachments both at Candia and Retimo have been accounted for in fierce hand-to-hand fighting and the situation now is satisfactory at both those places.

In the Malemi sector, a British counter-attack yesterday was reported partly successful but later in the day was held up because the Germans had been able to land considerable reinforcements by air in the area.

(A British broadcast heard by CBS in New York said that King George II of Greece is understood still to be in Crete.)

An authoritative source here said the situation today, the fourth since Nazi air transports, gliders and parachutes began pouring sky troops down on the Mediterranean island, was "certainly as satisfactory as it was 24 hours ago."

So long as the British navy can ward off a threatened invasion by sea, this source said, there is every reason to believe that the air-borne attack must fail and, so far, it has prevented any successful sea invasion.

All attempts to land forces on the island from the sea have failed, he declared flatly.

GREAT BATTLE RAGES

The greatest battle between air and seapower ever fought is probably now taking place off Crete, this source added. He acknowledged that some losses to warships were "inevitable," but called German claims exaggerated "as usual."

(The Germans have claimed four cruisers, several destroyers

Big Mouth Bass Turns Out to Be An Alligator

SOUTHPORT, N. C., May 23 (AP)—Three times Postmaster L. T. Yaskell went to a pond to fish—and returned with stories of a 20-pound "big mouth bass" stealing his plug and breaking his line.

Then Capt. J. B. Russell went to the pond and came back with a four-foot, 24-pound alligator. Imbedded in its jaws were Yaskell's prize plug, plus a hook belonging to Russell which the "gator could not shake loose."

ADMIRAL DARLAN
"France Will Keep Fleet"

FRANCE TO KEEP NAVY, COLONIES

VICHY, France, May 23 (AP)—Vice-Admiral Jean Darlan told the French people today Adolf Hitler had not asked France for her fleet in current negotiations.

Nor has Hitler asked for colonial concessions, the vice premier added.

"The chancellor did not ask me to hand over our fleet to him," Darlan asserted in a broadcast. "Everyone knows—and the English better than anyone—that I will never hand it over."

"The chancellor did not ask me for any colonial territory. He did not ask me to declare war on England."

Why has he acted so?

"Germany began the war alone and judges herself able to end it alone against no matter what coalition."

"On the result of negotiations in course," Darlan asserted, "directly depends the future of France."

"It is necessary for her to choose between life and death. The marshal and government have chosen life."

He emphasized that:

"In June, 1940, the victor could have refused us an armistice, beaten us and wiped France off the map of the world—but he did not do it."

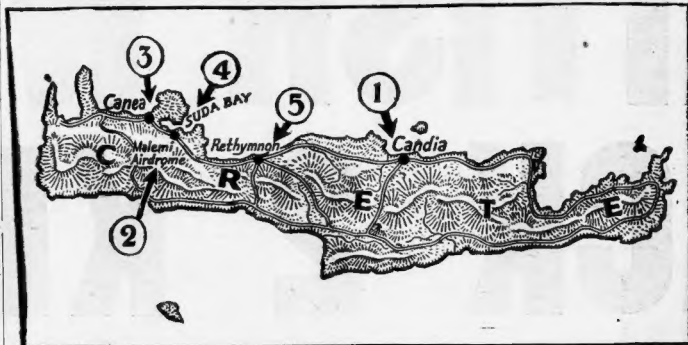

"Now," Darlan said, "in May, 1941, the victor has agreed to negotiate with the French government."

The vice-premier said he had gone to Berchtesgaden to confer with Hitler at the Fuehrer's request, but said France "freely chooses the road which she has taken."

"At no moment in the conversations (with Hitler) was there a question of France abandoning in any way her sovereignty," he said emphatically.

Darlan told the French people their duty was "clearly traced."

"Follow Marshal (Petain), and aid him with all your force, as I am doing, in his work of national restoration. Like him, like me, in your thoughts be inspired only by the interests of France."

THE BATTLE OF CRETE—British Imperial and Greek troops today were reported hammering successive waves of German invaders in five key areas of Crete. With the Nazis in control of Candia (1) and the Malemi airport (2), British warships reportedly dispersed of sank several German convoys trying to land reinforcements. After establishing bridgeheads at Candia and Malemi, the Nazis launched repeated efforts to extend their footholds, provoking fierce fighting around Canea (3), the shore of Suda Bay (4) and the Retimo district (5).

ADMIRAL LAND URGES USE OF U.S. FORCES TO BREAK COAST STRIKE

WASHINGTON, May 23 (INS)—Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission, today urged use of "United States forces without limit" to break the West Coast shipbuilding strike.

Testifying at an investigation by the Truman Senate committee into the San Francisco Bay walkout, Admiral Land said the strike was an outlaw strike.

Land indicated he favored using soldiers if necessary to remove the picket line.

"I can't see how it is possible to tolerate 1700 men preventing ten times that many from working in the shipyards, especially when 90 per cent of the work is for the federal government," he asserted.

"I think the situation there is as flagrant as anything in my experience."

WOULD USE FORCE

"I favor using United States forces without limit, including necessary forces of city, county, state and federal government to enforce the rights of the national government to break that picket line."

The strike in the shipyards, where 1700 machinists are striking, is holding up $500,000,000 worth of work, Land added.

He warned that "the dire need of the world today is ships and more ships."

Sen. Connally (D.) of Texas asked Land whether the federal government should not take over plants and operate them in case of strikes.

"Theoretically, that has merit," replied Land. "Practically there would be great difficulty."

"Wouldn't it be well to give the government that authority?"

asked Connally.

"I think it would," replied Land. "If the government took over the West Coast shipyards, however, the government would have to retain the same management, Land said."

Sen. Brewster (R.) of Maine asked Admiral Land if legislation should be enacted to break the picket line.

"If legislation is necessary, I think the emergency of the situation justifies it," replied Land. He said there is no precedent for breaking a picket line, but he referred to cases where the government has taken mail through picket lines.

Connally pressed his proposal that the government has the right to take over plants.

"If the government has to take over plants to operate them in an emergency, by God, I'd take over every plant in the nation," ejaculated Connally.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ralph Bard testified construction of many navy ships had been delayed.

"The delay is serious enough, but even more serious is the effect on the defense program in the future if we cannot count on the validity of agreement signed by authorized district labor councils," he said.

"The American people will not, in my opinion, see the national defense program destroyed."

"The cause of this strike is selfishness or a subversive element which must be eliminated."

In this instance and whenever they show their head in the future."

"What is your suggestion?" asked Sen. Brewster.

"My suggestion is where you have an outlaw strike, or where you have a fraudulent vote as in the Alibi-Chalmers case the government step in and take over the plant," he said.

Navy Denies It Will Ferry Strike Workers

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23 (AP)—A report that Navy Yard machinists would be taken to work on vessels tied up in strike-bound San Francisco Bay area shipyards was denied by a Navy spokesman today.

Labor leaders had said they were informed the Navy would bring in machinists from the Mare Island yard.

The Navy spokesman said he had heard "some talk of that kind," but it had not come from 12th Naval District headquarters here.

Navy trucks hauled about 600 A. F. of L. shipyard workers through CIO picket lines at two of the 11 struck shipyards yesterday, while pickets jeered. There was no violence.

The CIO and AFL machinists' unions are co-operating in the strike which has halted work for 14 days on a half billion dollars worth of naval and merchant marine construction.

Blonde Death Plan Hint Told by Emery's Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Boston Evening American Staff Reporter

Only three days before the man she allegedly murdered was found dead in her West End apartment, Mrs. Ruth Steadman said:

"Where we are going, we won't be coming back."

So testified a mutual friend of the couple today at the trial of the blonde defendant for the "hopeless love" slaying of Robert Emery, at 26 a year younger than herself and, like herself, married and a parent.

With her emotions under control, Ruth Steadman displayed a more cheerful mien today than at any other session of her trial for the "hopeless love" slaying of her suitor, Robert Emery . . . and smiled brightly as she greeted persons on her way into Suffolk courtroom. Too, her eyes, formerly downcast, met the gazes of spectators.

"This is the end," Ruth said over the telephone, according to Robert Garrity of Newton, testifying in the sweltering courtroom.

Garrity said he had just broken the news to her that he had been unable to swing a much-banked-on contracting job for Emery, with a $500 advance to relieve Emery's straitened circumstances.

ROPE TIGHT AROUND NECK

She replied, said Garrity, that this bad news marked "the end" and, therefore, she was saying "good-by, and good-by to Bobby, too."

That was on Saturday, Jan. 18, he said, and another witness gave testimony that was the last day Ruth had worked as a secretary at Harvard Business School.

Three days later the body of Emery was found on the floor of her apartment, with Ruth, naked and in a stupor, lying on a bed.

Dr. Cornelius J. O'Leary, associate medical examiner, came afterward to testify that when he inspected Emery's body he found a length of clothesline knotted so tightly round Emery's neck that he could not remove it immediately.

"I found the knot was tied right below the Adam's apple and a little to the left of the midline," said Dr. O'Leary. "The knot looked like a check knot, so it would not slip. There was also a slipknot in it."

FOUND TWO NOTES

"I tried to get my index finger between the skin and the rope. I couldn't do it, because the rope was too tight."

Not until the body had been removed to the morgue, said the med-

WEATHERMAN INSISTS SHOWERS TO COOL HUB

Well, ladies and gentlemen here we are again: You have to hand it to these weather forecasters—they're persistent. Yesterday, with the average citizen walking down city streets that felt like the inside of a blast furnace, the Boston weatherman said:

"Never mind. It's just temporary; showers tonight will cool it off."

So, last night—no showers.

Today, as temperatures from midnight to sunrise were running even higher than yesterday and Tuesday, the weatherman announced officially:

"Cooler tonight. Showers expected."

One hope of relief, that though today will be hot it won't be as hot as yesterday, was seen in the fact that the thermometer did not begin to shoot up after sunrise as it did yesterday.

Many greater Boston citizens today, wary of the forecasts of the weather predictors, hid their ways to beaches, parks and golf courses. The weatherman is bound to be right sooner or later. If he just keeps on predicting showers night after night—one day the weather will cross him up, and showers will come.

So—he's being persistent. Forecast for tonight:

"Showers."

Prior to today the warmest day of this date was in 1902 when the thermometer reached 88 degrees. At 1:30 that record was topped with a reading of 90 and indications pointed to even higher readings the rest of the day.

In Lexington school officials, because of the extreme heat, closed all public schools at noon.

RUTH DONS FIFTH NEW DRESS IN DEATH TRIAL

By ALICE BISSELL

Boston Evening American Staff Reporter

It had been feared today that Ruth Steadman might have to let down the feminine majority at her trial for the murder of Robert Emery.

But Mrs. Steadman didn't let them down. For the fifth day of her trial she appeared in a new dress, although at last reports last night she had exhausted her full jail wardrobe of four dresses.

Today's attire was a neat dark blue frock with wide white collar. However, she retained the same that she had worn in the previous two days, a navy blue pancake hat of straw—a sort of beret, if you will.

Each day the question of what the blonde, 27-year-old defendant would wear to court has been a matter of speculation among the feminine contingent rushing the trial—women predominating in these crowds of curious.

MOTHER FETCHES DRESS

She had started off with four dresses at the jail and she wore these successively on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Thus her stock was exhausted—but her mother came faithfully to the front with a fifth outfit.

This week of trial for murder has not in the least affected Mrs. Steadman, according to officials at Charles st. jail.

Despite the gruelling, nervous strain she apparently is undergoing and the hot, sultry weather, she returns to the jail in fine spirits.

at 4:45, eager for her 5 o'clock supper.

And what's more, Mrs. Steadman has gained 15 pounds during her stay at the jail, which guards attribute to the regular hours she is forced to keep.

HER FAVORITE MEAL

Described as a favorite supper for the young blonde defendant is one of macaroni, bread and butter, sliced peaches and coffee.

To fortify herself for the day's ordeal she breakfasts on cereal, coffee, bread and butter . . . and sometimes she gets her favorite specialty—crullers.

Mrs. Steadman laughs a great deal and chats with the other prisoners, especially Hazel Barber in the next cell, who is waiting trial on charge of murdering Max "Kid" Hessel in Brighton, another "hopeless love" slaying.

Since Ruth's trial began on Monday, she speaks seldom of it. Instead she confines herself mostly to light chatter.

Until six o'clock, she can visit with her attorney, Edward F. Flynn, and then looks forward eagerly to a visit from her parents.

At 9 o'clock it is lights out for the attractive blonde mother and jail attendants report she sleeps soundly . . . alone with her dreams for a little while before the morning brings her again to the grim reality—trial for murder.

ARMY TO ASK $2,500,000,000 FOR 13,000 U. S. WAR PLANES

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The War Department will soon ask Congress, informed quarters said today, for a $2,500,000,000 appropriation for a new "security fleet" of 13,000 bombing and fighting planes part of which will be ready for action in about 18 months.

As outlined by defense officials, the 13,000-plane program would be superimposed on the present 31,000 Army goal, as well as other undisclosed additions already proposed in the regular military appropriations bill now pending before a house committee.

Interested legislators said they had been assured that plane deliveries would be in full swing 18 months after construction started. They said they had no doubts about how this would be accomplished except through a tremendous expansion of production capacity and through standardization of models.

500 A MONTH, PLAN

If approved by Congress, the "security fleet" outlay was expected to give fresh impetus to President Roosevelt's recommendation for the production of 500 bombers a month and to put the Army air force in a position to cope with any turn the European war may take in the next two years.

Legislators who were consulted about the program said it was their understanding that a request would be made for funds to construct, arm and equip the planes for the Army, without any reference to British needs.

SHARE FOR BRITISH

They explained that if war still was going on when the planes started to roll off the assembly lines and Britain needed them, there appeared to be little doubt that she would get a substantial share under the lease-lend program.

If anything happened to Britain in the meantime, they added, the United States would have an enlarged modern air fleet calculated to bolster its security against any threat.

Much of the construction, it was understood, would be undertaken in new government plants to be financed with $350,000,000 allocated for that purpose by the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

2 Newton Girls Miss Stardom—By 3000 Miles

Convinced there's no place like home after all, two 12-year-old West Newton girls were back here today after an attempt to reach Magic Hollywood on $3 capital.

The movie-struck girls who set out Wednesday night for the movie capital were found at the South Station by a Travelers' Aid Society representative, tired and sleepy, the funds reduced to 9 cents.

The girls are Jane Appleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Appleton of Highland st., and Harriet Chapin of Southgate Park. They are pupils at Levi Warren Junior High School.

The girls left the Appleton home at 8 p. m. and got as far as Framingham by bus. They slept fitfully on a park bench, took in the movies, then returned to Boston, where most of what remained of the money was spent for food.

Dover Street Bridge Closed for Repairs

The Dover st. bridge, spanning Ft. Point channel in the South End, will be closed until rotted planking is replaced, it was announced today.

A two-hour traffic snarl developed last night during the rush hours after the bridge was ordered closed during the afternoon.

Compromise Ends Battle Over $28,000 Lynn Will

SALEM, May 23—Relatives, feuding over the will of Mrs. Lucy McCarthy, who died in Lynn last Sept. 8, suddenly composed the differences today in superior court and agreed to return to probate court and accept a compromise will.

The original will left the bulk of her $28,000 estate to a nephew, James Dolan, 49, headmaster of the Beethoven School in West Roxbury and a resident of Whittemore rd. Newton.

Contesting relatives had claimed that Dolan exerted undue influence over Mrs. McCarthy. It was brought out, and admitted by Dolan, that he had prevented the burial of Mrs. McCarthy's husband, John, in the family cemetery lot in Randolph.

On the stand Dolan explained his action as due to his mother's insistence that he forbid the burial of McCarthy in the lot. Relatives testified Dolan stood over the open grave and refused to permit his uncle to be buried there.

Under the terms of the compromise will each of the contesting relatives will get one-tenth of the estate and Dolan will receive six-tenths.

The case was being heard by Judge David Dillon and a jury. The contestants are: Arthur T. Dolan, Randolph; John L. Ford, Brockton; Mrs. Katherine Hickey, Brockton; Miss Mildred McCarthy, Lynn, and Miss Mildred McCarthy, of Brockton.

YD SERGEANT KILLED, 6 HURT IN HEAD-ON FALMOUTH CRASH

One soldier was killed and six others injured, one seriously, today in a terrific head-on crash of an Army truck and a light sedan on the Old Sandwich rd. in Falmouth.

The truck, after nearly demolishing the sedan, hurtled off the road, smashed down two telephone poles and plowed on for 50 feet before overturning.

Sgt. James E. Smith, 21, of Rogers st., Somerville, a member of Co. B, 101st Engineers, and driver of the sedan, was killed.

His companion, Pvt. Ernest Davis, 20, of Leighton st., Lynn, attached to the same company, was reported near death at Camp Edwards Hospital, with a fractured skull.

Pvt. Edward R. Stephens, of Winfield, Tenn., driver of the truck, suffered head lacerations, and Pvt. Harry L. Towle, of London, N. H., assistant driver, received a severe shoulder injury.

Minor injuries were suffered by Pvt. Richard Wilson, of Jodie, W. Va.; Charles West, of Concord, N. H., and Robert Coutu, of Baltic, Ct. All the latter were riding in the truck and are attached to the 68th Coast Artillery.

The accident, another in a series in which nearly a score of soldiers' lives were lost, followed a stern warning yesterday by Maj. Gen. Robert W. Eckfeldt, YD commander, that officers would be held responsible for violation of his order forbidding parking of private cars off the reservation.

IMPROVES AFTER LEAP

Timothy J. Callahan, 43, who, police said, slashed his neck and both wrists, then plunged 35 feet from the roof of his home in Frothingham ave., Charlestown, was reported slightly improved but still in a serious condition at City Hospital today.

Several Faint in 'L' Jam

Several persons fainted as thousands crowded into subway stations from Ashmont to Harvard sq. today in a traffic tie-up caused when an inbound train went dead at Savin Hill.

Trains loaded with early morning commuters were stalled from 10 to 20 minutes while the disabled train, itself jammed with passengers, was pushed by another train to Harvard sq.

Ten minutes were lost at Savin Hill, but at Harvard sq. commuters waited on packed platforms for 18 minutes. The delay occurred shortly after 8 o'clock. Extra trains were put in service as soon as the tracks were cleared and subway stations were soon emptied.

BUDGET MEDICINE IS LAW

A proposal to permit the Massachusetts Medical Society to establish a pre-paid budget plan for treatment of patients became law today with the signature of Gov. Saltonstall.

ARMY WARNS U. S. ARSENAL STRIKERS

By the Associated Press
A Federal labor conciliator declared today that 5000 strikers in the government shell-loading plant in Ravens, were not serving labor's purpose and an army spokesman warned that construction on the huge project would remain suspended until workers' ranks were "cleared of agitators."

R. E. Harris, Federal conciliator sent there in an effort to arbitrate the two-day-old dispute over laborers' demands for higher wages, said that if the strikers "are serving some other purpose they are highly successful."

"The strikers, by selecting and rejecting leadership without due process, have thrown a fence around themselves and have left no gate" for negotiations, he added.

Kenneth Stalter, business agent for the AFL Hod Carriers, Builders and Common Laborers Union, termed the strike "100 per cent unauthorized."

Today saw cancellation of identification badges issued the company's 10,400 employees. Without badges, employees can't enter arsenal grounds. There was no explanation of the cancellation and some badges were being reissued today.

The strike of 5000 of the 10,400 employees also disrupted work of 3600 other men on the giant project which was scheduled to begin turning out shells by July 1.

In voiding badges of all workers, the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co. said 7300 laborers would be "re-employed" only through accredited AFL representatives, "whoever they may be."

In Detroit the United Automobile Workers (CIO), declaring itself "ready to draw a curtain on the past," planned today to begin collective bargaining negotiations "immediately" with the Ford Motor Co., last of the automotive industry's "Big Three" to come within the union's scope.

R. J. Thomas, UAW-CIO president, said that in addition to "adequate recognition," the union would seek a 10-cent hourly wage boost

MARIE PHILLIPS CURLEY
Divorce Suit Postponed

Paul Curley Divorce Trial Is Postponed

Hearing on the second attempt of Mrs. Marie Phillips Curley, the former Lillian Duval, New York night club singer, to divorce Paul G. Curley, son of former Gov. James M. Curley, was postponed today in Suffolk Probate Court until the middle of June.

Atty. William S. Kinney, counsel for Mrs. Curley, appeared before Judge Robert Gardner Wilson, Jr., and asked that the uncontested suit be deferred owing to the plaintiff's inability to return from Florida in time for the hearing.

Judge Wilson granted the continuance and said a date for hearing would be announced later.

HOT BATTLE LOOMS IN MOVE TO REPEAL NEUTRALITY ACT

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Condemning Secretaries Stimson and Knox for their sharp criticism of the Neutrality Act, Senate opponents of Administration foreign policy gave advance notice today that they would make a vigorous, last-ditch fight against any effort to repeal the present law.

"The fight against the Administration's lease-lend bill will look like a pretty tame affair compared with what will ensue after any effort to repeal the neutrality act," said Sen. Nye (R.) of North Dakota.

"While the Administration thus far has found difficulty in inviting an incident challenging us into war, it would have a much easier task without the neutrality law."

Nye said that President Roosevelt had "praised the act at the time it was passed as a larger measure of security against our involvement in war." The act, he added, "has kept us out of this war so far despite the well-known impatience of the Knoxes and the Stimsones to get into war."

Stimson declared yesterday that the act violated "our most sacred and important tradition of foreign policy—freedom of the seas." Knox previously called the law a "terrible blunder." Both said they were speaking as individuals.

Sen. Wheeler (D.) of Montana, like Nye, a leading opponent of the aid-to-Britain program, asserted that repeal of the act would mean sending American ships into war zones and that such a step would mean war.

From Chairman George (D.) of Georgia, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee came a statement that he had not been approached by any Administration spokesmen with suggestions for repeal of the neutrality law.

George then added somewhat cryptically that "upon careful examination the belief is not without supporting conditions that the difficulty of England would not be wholly solved by American naval convoying."

Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio, who has opposed Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policies, said that "it is obvious that, no long as American ships can't go to Britain, the President cannot claim any right to convoy foreign vessels."

Thorough Mental Test of Draftee Is Vital Factor, Doctor Declares

An Army colonel whose identity was withheld from members of the Massachusetts Medical Society was cited today as authority for the statement that "adequate psychiatric examinations would save the government $500,000,000 for every 1,000,000 draftees."

His opinion was given members at a closing session of the society's annual convention by Dr. Douglas A. Thom of Tufts Medical School, who added his criticism of the "rather superficial" psychiatric examinations given prospective soldiers.

After the last war, he said, because such potential victims of war neuroses were not weeded out, 58 per cent of the men now in veterans' hospitals were mental cases.

"It is rather difficult," he said, "to reconcile the rather superficial examinations prospective soldiers are given, limited to six to eight minutes for each man, with the importance of these casualties from both a military and economic point of view."

He termed the neuroses situation

"one of the most important military and economic problems with which the government has to deal."

The Germans have an entirely opposite view of the mental problem of soldiers, he said, and quoted a German doctor's opinion that "war hysteria will not be reason enough to remove anyone from the war zone. Indeed, the strongest pressure must be used upon him, to make him fulfill the tasks assigned him."

Dr. Thom contended that war neuroses "are long drawn out and difficult to treat, and tend to increase for at least 25 years after the cessation of hostilities."

He also said the period of rehabilitation after the war was even more difficult for potential neurotics than actual combat service.

British Vets Honor Redcoats of 1776

British redcoats buried in Concord and Lexington will be honored Sunday by the British Naval and Military Veterans' Ass'n of Massachusetts during their annual pilgrimage to the historical shrines.

The association, now commanded by William Peters of Boston, has gone each year for the past quarter century to these towns and to Bedford to honor their own dead and the memory of all Americans killed in battle.

Awning Saves Man In 40-Foot Plunge
 10 Although he fell 40 feet while cleaning a sign on the fourth floor of a Commercial st. building, Richard Russell, 36, of Lynde st., West End, hasn't so much as a scratch to show for it today. A canvas awning broke his fall at the street level.

EXTRA SESSION NOW LOOMS IN LEGISLATORS' PAY BOOST

Assured of a boost in pay through signing of the salary increase measure by Gov. Saltonstall, legislators today faced the prospects of working even harder to earn it.

For the governor hinted there was at least a 50-50 chance that the Legislature may be called into special session before the end of their biennial terms.

The governor expressed hope there would be no special convocation but he indicated he has his doubts.

If and when called after adjournment of the current session, the legislators thus will contribute their time and effort, for according to the chief executive, he "has assurance of presiding officers there will be no request for additional pay" in the event of a special session in 1942.

RUSHED THROUGH

The salary bill, rushed through both branches without debate under suspension of rules, increases biennial compensation of legislators next year from $2000 to $2500 with $900 allotted for expenses.

Without debate the surtax on incomes bill and the surtax on inheritance taxes bill were also passed to be engrossed by the House.

In less than an hour both branches also passed legislation disposing of $20,000,000 of gasoline tax money. The measure would distribute $10,000,000 annually this year and next to cities and towns for local highway work.

The House and Senate completed action in near record time on a third measure, giving the city of Boston $100,000 each year to help maintain Summer tunnel, $50,000 more than last year.

Although the committee rejected bond issues totalling $3,300,000 urged by the Governor, most of the savings were set up in new reserves and charge-offs.

The increase from $9,600,000 to $10,000,000 the annual distribution of gasoline tax money, would reduce the net state tax burden on cities and towns for the two years to $13,000,000, or $8,000,000 in 1941 and $7,000,000 in 1942.

TO MY HARASSED COUNTRYMEN!

What is your answer to the prominent banker who states we should go to war "if for no other reason than that of good business?"

What is your information of war-aid promises made in your name by your Statesmen? Aid which may transfer the vitally necessary resources of our own country to another?

Keep U. S. A. Out of War

YOUR OPPORTUNITY IN FREEING THE WORLD OF WAR IS UNPRECEDENTED IN HISTORY—IT MAY NEVER BE REPEATED—SEIZE IT BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE!

WRITE TO YOUR CONGRESSMAN AND SENATORS TODAY. (Massachusetts Senators are David I. Walsh and Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. Address them at the Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.) ASK THEM TO BAN THE USE OF AMERICAN NAVAL VESSELS FOR CONVOYING SHIPMENTS INTO WAR ZONES. ALSO TELEGRAPH THE PRESIDENT AND SECRETARIES HULL AND KNOX PROTESTING AGAINST THEIR USE AND REMINDING THEM OF CAMPAIGN PLEDGES.

The spread of the war to Africa has no conceivable attribute of Democracy—but rather for the spread of Empire—What part is the United States Fleet taking in this world debacle? Ask the President and your Congressman to call and keep the FLEET HOME to protect us from possible enemies the world over as the result of the arrogant and fantastic foreign so-called defense policy of some of our Statesmen. Also write your Senators and Congressmen asking them to support the WAR REFERENDUM BILL, but above all write now, today, and every day.

ASK! BEG! COMMAND!

your Senators and Congressman to keep the U. S. A. out of war.

A Million Letters Now May Save Millions of Lives

Peace House working with religious and peace organizations of long standing, appeals to all young men who are opposed to war from either religious or humanitarian convictions to register "CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR" on their draft questionnaire. After years of ardent pleas for peace, our Government recognizes this right. It is a matter of interest to observe that after England's many months of war, Canada does not have compulsory military service for overseas and has no Lend Lease Bill but is selling armaments in large quantities to her mother country. In England over 50,000 Conscientious Objectors are helping their government in peaceful employment. IT IS NOT NECESSARY TO BELONG TO A RELIGIOUS SECT OR SOCIETY TO BE A CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR ALTHOUGH SOME DRAFT BOARD OFFICIALS ARE STILL APPARENTLY IGNORANT OF THIS PHASE OF THE LAW. Do not allow the opportunity to escape. If you are convinced that killing your fellowman is contrary to the law of GOD and MAN and wish advice and suggestions for filling your draft questionnaire as "Conscientious Objector," write, send it to a specially self addressed, stamped envelope. To the Clergy: The undersigned wishes to respectfully entreat you to draw the attention of your congregation to the Ten Commandments as a model of life to be exercised in the relations between nations as well as individuals—the safeguard from civilization self destruction. To the Congressmen: Ask your clergy to remember to preach the Ten Commandments of Man and God physical as well as spiritual salvation. One more word to your representatives—do add nearby territory to U. S. A. by peaceful purchase and not initiate the violent methods of the dictators we all decry.

DEVENS TROOPS WIN PRAISE IN MANEUVERS

Happy but tired the 15,000 men of the First Army Division headed back to Ft. Devens today after staging New England's first "all-out" maneuvers on an ultra-modern scale which included invasion troops, latest pincer technique and large scale mechanized assault.

The problem, success of which was measured but not announced by umpires during the two-day maneuvers, consisted of warding off an attack from the north on the 6th Army Corps, which supposedly effected an invasion landing at Newburyport.

The pincer movement similar to that used by the Nazis in their French and Greek campaigns was employed against an imaginary foe represented by mechanized units of the first reconnaissance troops along the New Hampshire border. The division's three infantry regiments, the 16th, 18th and 20th, moved on their objective from the Massachusetts side of the border, with the 20th holding the center and the others on each flank.

ENEMY SURROUNDED

The two flanks squeezed together in a sideward advance connecting two miles beyond Brookline, N. H., with such success that some observers agreed an opposing force would have been surrounded.

Three field artillery battalions and the First Engineer Battalion supported the infantry. Pontoon bridges were strung across the Nashua river for troops rushing north.

In all, about 2500 vehicles, assault boats and bridges were used, and planes maintained radio communication with the attacking force. More than 100 square miles were embraced in the maneuvers.

Meanwhile, at Camp Edwards soldiers given week-end leave in Boston were warned they must take the special trains arranged to return them to camp Sundays or forfeit week-end leaves for three weeks.

CLOG NORMAL TRAFFIC

An official release explained that tickets issued the soldiers are for these special trains only, but many of the doughboys delay their return until the special trains have gone, thus impeding traffic in the South Station on regular commuter schedules.

British Seize Second French Tanker

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—The British radio was heard today by CBS quoting an official Italian news agency report from Vichy that a French seized Sheherazade, had been intercepted by the British in the Atlantic.

EBC also relayed a Japanese report that French ships had "definitely suspended all calls at Manila."

Lochinvar's Pretty Blonde Another's Bride

KANSAS CITY, May 23 (AP)—The pretty blonde who was followed all the way home from the Kentucky Derby by a motorcycle Lochinvar from Arkansas is a bride now—of a big, broad-shouldered man from California.

Mary Helen Linger, whose polite wave from her automobile started Earl Lee Archer, University of Arkansas sophomore, and a companion on their wild motorcycle dash, was married last night to John West, a steel company accountant, of San Francisco. Archer, for all his long detour from Louisville to Kansas City, never got to see Miss Linger. When he located her by telephone, her father, president of the real estate board, informed him there was "someone else." The someone else was West.

Then She and Man Go to the Hospital

PHILADELPHIA, May 23 (AP)—It wasn't on the menu but Walter Myers got a girl with his soup.

Both went to the hospital, Myers with glass cuts on the hands and an injured back and the girl with minor injuries.

14 Newark Sirens to Wail For Blackout Monday

NEWARK, N. J., May 23 (AP)—A two-minute wail of air-raid sirens and factory whistles at 12:15 a. m. Monday will signal darkening of this city—heart of the great industrial area of northern New Jersey—in the first blackout of a community of this size under simulated wartime conditions.

In the 15 minutes before the "all clear" signal, Army observers, blackout officials, U. S. Senators and Latin American observers will fly over darkened Newark to study results of months of detailed preparations.

Within Newark's environs, said Chairman Herbert S. Waters of the blackout committee, may be found almost every problem that would have to be faced by any American city.

Factories engaged in millions of dollars' worth of defense contracts, an important harbor, five trunk railroad lines, a large busness and industrial section and a large residential area. More than 3600 air-raid wardens received final instructions this week for their roles in the demonstration.

The quarter-hour of darkness for nearly a half-million persons residing a few minutes' ride from New York city also will require the efforts of nearly 1000 regular firemen and reserves, 1500 policemen, state policemen, and 1700 volunteers.

Two highways, arteries between New York and the West and South, will remain lighted

MERRIMAN IN FAREWELL TO HARVARD

"Gentlemen, there is no such thing as isolation today!" With these ringing words, Harvard's renowned "Fisky," otherwise Prof. Roger R. Merriman, who for 41 years has taught history to generations of Harvardians, began his farewell lecture today in the new lecture hall on the college campus.

More than 1000 students cheered as he declared:

"If Hitler wins, liberty and security will be ended for generations to come. No matter on what side of the Atlantic, it is the duty of mankind to resist Hitler."

With the familiar pendulum, which he has used at all of his lectures, swinging back and forth on the rostrum to emphasize his points, he discussed present world conditions as he saw them.

For the last time he extended his characteristic greeting to students who entered the lecture hall wearing their hats.

"Your hats, gentlemen, your hats!"

Continuing his discussion of the trend of the war in Europe, he said:

"The Atlantic ocean today is no wider than was the English channel in Napoleon's day. The world seems again to be rearing against liberty and security. People do not want to assume responsibility. Human civilization has never been in more dire peril."

"However, a better world will emerge out of the present Armageddon. Only some sort of a super state can make for peace. If the United States enters the war, it is possible we will have a dictatorship during the war period."

Thus ended the famous introductory history course which the 64-year-old Guiney professor has delivered to a total of more than 2,000 Harvard students and has made his name known in academic circles throughout the globe.

Michael Karpovich, assistant professor of Russian history and a lecturer in history I, will have full charge of the course which Prof. Merriman relinquished today.

Home Exhibit At Hovey's

A demonstration of low-cost interior decorating will be given by Miss Agnes F. Fennelly, staff instructor of the University Extension Service, in a lecture demonstration on the fifth floor of C. F. Hovey Co. Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

From all corners of the Home Furnishing division Miss Fennelly has collected bright, gay, serviceable furniture and accessories with which she will transform an ordinary room into a thing of beauty.

Three rooms have been set aside for her demonstration, and they will be changed three times so that home makers will be sure to get an idea for brightening their own homes.

Angel Without Wings Has Too Lofty Idea for Solitude In Surgery Case

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—Angel Hernandez, 16, is a seeker of peace and quiet, and so he is in Kings County Hospital for mental observation today after an evening which was neither peaceful nor quiet.

Angel, who wouldn't say whether he worked or went to school, climbed to the top of Manhattan bridge over the East river last night and lay down on a 30-inch grating where Policeman Charles Neis found him. His resting place was 322 feet above high water.

"What are you doing up here," demanded Neis.

"Not a thing, officer, just lying here quietly, that's all," he said Hernandez replied.

Neis told him to go down. Hernandez declined. Neis tried to pull him and Hernandez pulled away. Then started a long descent of one of the huge suspension bridge's 21 1/4-inch cables, Neis working slowly along and pulling Hernandez by the collar.

While a crowd watched breathless, they made their way to safety and Angel was taken to the hospital.

"I just wanted a little peace and quiet," he complained.

3 Face Court In Surgery Case

Illegal surgery charges were brought against a Cambridge man and woman and a Back Bay ballroom proprietor in East Cambridge district court today by Cambridge police.

One of the men was Raymond J. Galvin, 32, of Huntington ave., owner of the Raynor ballroom. Police charged him with being an accessory before and after the fact to illegal surgery.

The others accused are J. Ellis Fletcher, 60, of Massachusetts ave. and Florence Foster, 48, also of Massachusetts ave. All pleaded not guilty. Judge Arthur P. Stone ordered Fletcher held in $5000 and each of the others in $2000 for continued hearing on June 2.

State Thanksgiving Nov. 20

In the interests of order and unity during the emergency, Gov. Saltonstall, skipping hallowed tradition, will proclaim Nov. 20, the third Thursday in November, as "Thanksgiving Day this year."

The governor, who last year opposed President Roosevelt in maintaining the traditional holiday for Massachusetts, stated his about-face decision and his reasons for this decision in a letter to Miss Mildred H. McAfee, president of Wellesley College.

"Your inquiry as to the date of Thanksgiving in Massachusetts this year," the governor wrote, "is one of increasing numbers which include expression of the hope that the confusion of conflicting dates can be eliminated. I am informed several states, which held to the traditional date last year, have decided to observe earlier dates this year."

"Beginning in 1942, the President has this week stated that the traditional date will be universally observed. I am glad of this, but confusion in the different dates remains in 1941."

"I intend at the proper time, to proclaim Nov. 20, the next to last Thursday in November, as Thanksgiving this year. And in this time of grave crisis I trust the day may have renewed significance for Massachusetts citizens who can join with me in feeling we are contributing to our national unity and to the best traditions of Thanksgiving and American life—strong, close family ties."

"This, we realize, when we see dismembered families and disunited nations in other parts of world today. It is still my strong feeling that the last Thursday in November has become in Massachusetts a symbol of historic, patriotic and spiritual elements of Thanksgiving."

"This seems particularly pertinent when so many of our boys are in camp and other branches of federal services, where their earlier holiday prevails."

HUB MAN'S BODY FOUND

MILFORD, Ct., May 29 (AP)—The body of a man identified by papers in his pocket as Daniel J. McKenna of Whitney St., Roxbury, Mass., was found today floating in Wepawaug River near the Boston post road.

60-Cent Hub Tax Cut, Tobin Hint

A 60-cent reduction in the Boston tax rate, due to be announced shortly, was foreseen today in a statement by Mayor Tobin. The rate would be in the vicinity of $40. The 1940 rate was $40.60.

The mayor said certain departments—namely the street and registry—had shown substantial gains in revenue this year, which was taken as further indication the rate would be less than in 1940.

F. D. Picks New Infantry, Air, Chemical War Chiefs, ARMY, NAVY AIDES AT HUB AIR CONCLAVE

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP).—President Roosevelt appointed new chiefs today for three major branches of America's expanding Army, the Air Corps, Infantry and Chemical Warfare Service.

At the same time, he jumped H. H. Arnold two ranks, from colonel to major-general. Arnold will continue to serve as deputy chief of staff.

Arnold, who has just made a survey of conditions in Britain, has held the rank of chief of the air corps along with that of deputy chief of staff.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, sent to the Senate the nomination of Maj.-Gen. George H. Brett to succeed Arnold as air corps chief. Brett was acting chief while Arnold was abroad.

Brig.-Gen. Courtney Hodges was nominated to be chief of infantry to succeed Maj.-Gen. George A. Lynch, who retired last month.

Col. William N. Porter was selected to be chief of the chemical warfare service to replace Gen. Walter C. Baker, who also retired last month.

Arnold has held the permanent rank of colonel in the air corps. To send him up two steps in rank, the President nominated him to be a brigadier-general and also to be a major-general.

Also advanced to the permanent rank of Major-General was another deputy chief of staff, Brig.-Gen. William Bryden, who had held the temporary rank of major-general.

High ranking Army and Navy officers were on hand today for the opening of the second annual New England Aviation Conference at Hotel Statler and Somerset.

Sponsored by the New England Governors' Conference, the conclave will last two days and is represented by 40 New England business organizations.

Among the principal speakers are Merrill C. Lewis, chief of Office of Production Management's aircraft section, and Richard W. Miller, president of Vultee Aircraft Inc., of California. Gov. Saltonstall and other governors also will talk.

For the first time in Boston, one of TWA's new, four-engined, 32-passenger strato-liners will be on exhibition at the East Boston airport Saturday in connection with the conference.

One of a fleet of five ships now in coast to coast service, the strato-liner weighs 22½ tons and cruises nearly four miles above the earth at a speed of four miles a minute.

One of a series of reports to the public on New England's place in the National Defense Program

NEW ENGLAND speeds wings for the nation

BEFORE the present emergency, New England was well established as a center of aircraft production. Within the past two years, facilities have doubled and redoubled. Its share in defense in the air is speeded by a glorious tradition in aviation. Samuel P. Langley, ace pioneer in flying, was born in Roxbury. And down through the years, New England's contribution to the roster of aviation is a stirring inspiration.

As the nation relies on New England in time of need, skilled workmen and capable management are playing a mighty part in building and supporting a dominant air force. In the public interest we present here facts obtained from government and industrial sources as to the scope and progress of air defense activity in this area.

FOR DEFENSE IN THE AIR

Connecticut leads the nation in the production of aircraft engines and propellers... At the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, exhaustive research in aerodynamics has been a major factor in the high development of American aircraft... For the intricate tools vital to plane construction, industry in other sections has turned to New England... At Westover Field, Quonset Point, and many other strategic locations the army and navy have expended over $30,000,000 to establish air bases ready to keep control of the skies for the nation.

20 Totalitarian U. S. If We Enter War, Hutchins Warns

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 23—The General Federation of Women's Clubs, representing 2,000,000 American women, approved today all necessary aid to the foes of totalitarianism although warned this might mean convoys to Great Britain.

The federation's triennial convention amended the original resolution to oppose the sending of war supplies to Axis powers by United States citizens.

Mrs. Frederic W. Beggs of Wyckoff, N. J., International Relations Department chairman, who introduced the resolution, said she was fully aware of its serious implications, such as the possibility of convoys.

WARNED BY HUTCHINS

The American form of government cannot survive participation in the European war, and a totalitarian regime is certain to result in this country if the United States enters the conflict, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago declared.

In a nationally broadcast speech which was a special feature of the golden jubilee celebration of the federation Hutchins expressed belief that the United States could win the war, but only after a long and costly struggle.

He urged preparedness and charged that "the President has been conducting a war of nerves against the Axis and against his own people."

Speaking on the same broadcast, Col. William J. Donovan stated with "full knowledge of all the risks involved" that America should go whatever is necessary to assure a British victory.

"A beaten England means a threat to America from the east, the west and the south," said Donovan who returned several weeks ago from a tour of war zones. "Germany is making every possible effort to end the war this year."

Dr. Hutchins, world-famed educator, asserted:

"We have stopped trying to make democracy work. I am not an isolationist . . . If the United States can serve humankind, it should do so, no matter what the cost in blood and treasure. The

Dr. R. Hutchins Col. W. Donovan

United States cannot serve humankind by making the totalitarian revolution world-wide.

SEES TOTALITARIAN RULE

" . . . Our form of government will not survive participation in this war. And our ideals will be unrecognized by the time they have gone through a conflict in which we can succeed only if we have learned to hate everybody but the English and the Chinese.

" . . . If Hitler is really devoted to the totalitarian ideal, and is prepared to undergo personal defeat to realize it on a world scale, he should pray for America's entrance into the war. For it would follow as the night the day that a totalitarian banner would be raised over the Western Hemisphere.

"Since I believe that we shall have a totalitarian government after the war, I cannot see it (the United States) writing a just and durable peace.

"Our professed ideals and our theory of government are far better than those of the Axis. Our practice of life and government is better than that of the Axis. But our practice is not enough better to justify the hope that after we have won the war for democracy we can write a democratic peace.

"Our practice is not enough better to make the peace enough better to justify the slaughter of millions of men of all nations and the destruction of civilization and the hopes which all the world now places on America."

PREDICTS 3-YEAR WAR

Even though the United States plunged into the war "we could not expect the end in less than five years," said Hutchins who declared that Hitler never will attack America "if we are prepared."

Moreover, he said, the German Chancellor won't penetrate South America if "we deal justly and intelligently" with the Latin-American countries and accept Secretary of Navy Knox's proposal for an immediate customs union with them.

Taking up the subject of a peace, Hutchins stated:

"I can neither comprehend nor favor a program by which the United States proposes to force the four freedoms on the rest of the world. We haven't got them. We don't understand them.

"If we set out to impose our conception of them on the rest of the world we can end only by establishing an empire. Empire means money and power . . . I have no more desire to see the world enslaved to the United States than I have to see it enslaved to Germany."

Donovan called for an early decision on whether the United States will take action to insure delivery of Lend-Lease aid to Britain.

"If we are going to aid England, we ought to be prepared to run the risk of getting it there . . . and if we are not prepared to run that risk, we should be on the level with England and tell her we are through.

" . . . Whatever we do we must do with the full realization of the risk involved, even though that risk may mean war itself. When I say this I mean to say that I would not declare war. I do not think it is necessary . . . I doubt if Hitler desires to rush into battle with this country."

With the collapse of England, America's greatest danger would lie in a blow struck through South America, said Donovan who added:

"What happened to the Balkans is a prototype of what will happen to South America. It will be a logical effort on the part of Germany to occupy strategic and outflanking positions against us . . . on the ground that she must be protected against us."

U. S. EMPLOYMENT REACHES HIGHEST POINT IN HISTORY

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Employment in non-agricultural pursuits has jumped past the 1929 peak to the highest levels in the United States history, a computation based on government figures showed today.

NEW

50c A WEEK

at KAY'S

The preliminary estimates indicated that, due to defense efforts, there now are over 37,500,000 wage-earners at work.

This compares with the boom peak of 37,470,000 in September, 1929, and the depression low of 26,381,000 during March, 1933. (The estimate of current employment does not include Army and Navy personnel, workers on WPA and National Youth projects or men in the Civilian Conservation Corps.)

15,000,000 INCREASE

The present preparedness drive, however, hardly approaches the war effort of 1917-18 in the full employment of the nation's resources of working men and women.

Some estimates by research experts have put the total of unemployed at the peak of activity in 1918 at only 500,000. This contrasts with current unemployment estimates running from 6,100,000 to 9,000,000. However, since 1918 the number of persons capable of gainful work has increased by approximately 15,000,000.

Experts on employment opportunities point out that in addition to the millions still unemployed 3,000,000 youngsters leaving classrooms in May and June will be out looking for permanent or vacation jobs.

500,000 OFF WPA

The WPA is preparing to release another 500,000 of its workers, to bring the total within the 1,000,000 for whom President Roosevelt has asked Congress to provide wages in the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

Furthermore, one labor analyst said, the employment market probably will see an influx of women—many of whom have never worked before—for wages.

BRITISH NAVY GUNS HALT CRETE INVADERS

and a submarine were sent to the bottom, and hits scored on a battleship, two destroyers and a number of other vessels. (The strength Britain has mustered for her sea defense of Crete was indicated by the Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, who, without mentioning the island, reported at least five big British battleships, two aircraft carriers and undetermined numbers of cruisers and destroyers in the battle.)

CONSTANT AIR ATTACKS

The 33-bat Axis convoy which Prime Minister Churchill yesterday told Commons had been engaged by British naval forces was said to have sustained damages and Italian ships were reported seen picking up survivors.

The Navy, however, was acknowledged to be facing a tough proposition because it must wage a ceaseless fight close to hostile shore bases in the face of constant air attacks.

Furthermore, one source said, the Germans are using powerful formations of dive-bombers and the combination of heavy air attacks and confined waters in which the battle is being fought has kept the Navy from chasing its foe back to its own shores.

HEAVY SLAUGHTER

German dive-bombers attacking the fleet were said to have suffered heavily from anti-aircraft fire and it was reiterated that there doubtlessly has been heavy slaughter among Germans landed on Crete from the air.

London informants emphasized that the Navy would hold nothing back to prevent sea-borne reinforcements, guns, tanks and ammunition reaching the Germans, who are described as needing them.

One factor favoring the British, it was pointed out, is the difficulty of disembarkation on the Cretan coast.

Candia, the island's largest city, has a quay 650 feet long with a depth alongside of 20 feet. Cana, the island capital and seat of Greek King George II's government in refuge from Athens, has two jetties 160 and 140 feet long with no possibility of direct disembarkation.

SEA DANGEROUS

Suda Bay has a concrete pier 240 yards long and also a stone pier.

Besides, it was recalled, the admiralty announced some time ago that the sea is dangerous for shipping right up to Crete's shores—an indication of the additional hazard for the Germans of British-sown minefields.

The battle, raging in undiminished fury, thus appeared to be resolving itself into a showdown between Britain's might afloat and Germany's air supremacy—factors on which, some military experts believe, the outcome of the whole war may be determined.

Berlin Sees Capture Of Crete by Sunday

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, May 23 — Great Britain's Mediterranean fleet has been crippled in attempted defense of Crete and defeat of that island may be announced by Sunday, usually competent officials in Berlin said today.

Toward the German public, the German government maintained strict silence concerning the Crete invasion. But foreign correspondents were told the island would fall in what would prove to be "one of the greatest disasters for Britain."

Of chief importance, spokesmen said, is the fact that an island, no matter how heavily defended—and England falls into this classification—is definitely vulnerable to blitzkrieg tactics.

In addition, the Wilhelmstrasse asserted, the Crete campaign will demonstrate that sea power is no match for the Nazi Luftwaffe.

German estimates say that between two and three British divisions, totalling a minimum of 30,000 men, are in Crete. Their capture is held to be inescapable, while two Greek divisions under King George II also face surrender or annihilation.

Since Wednesday, according to Berlin information, all important air fields in Crete are held by the Germans, who are also firmly established at strategic points on the island.

The last phase of the fighting began with the successful arrival of convoyed German ships with reinforcements and heavy guns despite severe battering by the British fleet. The guns will be used to blast out British artillery nestled at various defense points.

The British were reported to have assembled all their spare naval units in the Mediterranean in a desperate effort to shatter German sea contact and choke off supplies. This effort has failed, it was said, as a result of which the Royal Navy has suffered one of the most staggering blows of the war. "The British Mediterranean fleet is crippled so badly the entire British defenses in the Near East will be affected," a spokesman asserted.

Nazis Claim 3 More Destroyers Sunk

BERLIN, May 23 (AP)—Three British destroyers were sunk and two others damaged today by German dive-bombers in the Mediterranean, DNB, official German news agency, reported.

Five or six British speed boats entering an eastern Mediterranean naval base also were destroyed by German warplanes, the agency said. German crews, in addition, claimed to have left two British cruisers aflame after drive-bomber attacks.

One of the damaged destroyers of yesterday's action, which Germans asserted constituted a sweeping victory for Nazi air power over Britain's seapower in the eastern Mediterranean. Her previous claims:

Four cruisers, several destroyers and one submarine sent to the bottom by the Luftwaffe yesterday and the day before.

One battleship, two destroyers and a number of small vessels hit.

The high command, referring to yesterday's special announcement of the battle between sea and air power, said the Luftwaffe pounced repeatedly in "audacious" attacks, scoring hit after hit upon virtually all types of British warships.

It did not repeat the detailed claim in last night's special announcement that four cruisers and several destroyers had been sunk and that a battleship and two other destroyers were damaged.

The submarine was added to the list of British losses by informed sources who said it was hit by a heavy bomb as it tried to dive to cover.

Today's communique said simply that "the heaviest losses" were inflicted by the Luftwaffe in its joust with British seapower. It gave no location for the battle other than the eastern Mediterranean—although the Crete region undoubtedly was meant.

Britain Warned On Irish Draft

WASHINGTON, May 23 (ING)—A warning that relations between Great Britain and Eire will be set back "for generations to come" if the British impose conscription in Northern Ireland was issued today by Francis Aiken, Irish minister for the co-ordination of defense.

In an exclusive statement, Aiken said he feared enforcement of conscription in Northern Ireland would lead to serious civil disorders there.

A False Alarm

British Sink Troopship, Tanker

By the Associated Press
British submarines have torpedoed and sunk a 9000-ton troop ship and a 7000-ton tanker trying to reach Axis forces in Libya, the British admiralty reported today, and probably sank an Italian destroyer.

In addition, the communique said, a large schooner of the type used by the Axis for carrying ammunition, was sunk and a smaller schooner hit several times by shells.

Berlin reported today that Axis forces had tightened their ring about Tobruk in the past few days. Axis shock troops, assisted by artillery, were said to have worked themselves close to British positions, with some of forces advancing deeper into Tobruk's outer fortifications.

HEAVY DAMAGE, BERLIN SAYS
The Wediada waterworks west of Tobruk, has been bombed and damaged severely by German fleets, Berlin said.

Rome claimed the situation of British forces at Tobruk is becoming more precarious daily, and said the British were being subjected to a continual bombardment by artillery and planes.

British troops have taken Gelute, 25 miles northwest of Sciacannina in the Ethiopian lakes region south of Addis Ababa, and captured more than 800 Italian prisoners, a London source asserted today.

ITALIANS REPULSED

An Italian counter-attack, supported by tanks and directed at Gelute, was said to have been repulsed.

In the Iraq theater, London said, Iraq forces launched a counter-attack against British-held Fallujah, 40 miles west of Bagdad, Wednesday night and penetrated the town but the British later attacked and recaptured their original positions. Iraq infantry and light tanks attacked, driving the British first from an outpost at Fallujah. Then the British counter-attacked after the RAF heavily bombed the Iraqis, regaining the post and captured some tanks.

Army Gets First Troop Carrier

CHICAGO, May 23 (AP)—The first of 2000 troop carriers to be manufactured by the Diamond Motor Car Co. was turned over to Army ordnance officers yesterday after final tests.

The Army has placed a $14,000,000 order for the "troop taxicabs," known officially as the armored personnel carrier and termed the backbone of the armored division.

Seating 13 soldiers with full equipment plus a driver, the vehicle has sides of light armor and a swivel mounted machine gun for protection against air and ground attacks. It has solid rubber caterpillar tracks in the rear and wheels in front.

Lineman's paradise?

A telephone pole nine hundred and sixty feet high... more than five times the height of Niagara! Doesn't seem reasonable, does it... especially when you think of the man with the spikes! But that's how high a pole would be if it carried the 4,242 wires now packed into a cable only 2½ inches thick!

Which means what?

Simply that telephone engineering has gone a long way since you last tangled a kite-tail in that maze overhead!

Today's telephone poles don't have to be abnormally high... nor do we need as many in proportion to traffic... Nearly 97% of this company's wire mileage is now in cable, and nearly 61% of it is underground cable.

That is just a sample of many ways in which your telephone company has met changing conditions... given you better service despite a tremendously increased "load."

His Fowl Ruling Gives Family Diet Of Chicken 16 Days

NEW YORK, May 23 (INS)—The Edward Galea family today faced the prospect of chicken for breakfast, lunch and dinner for the next 16 days.

Galea, 67, was haled into court on a charge of keeping 18 chickens and 20 pigeons in the back yard of his home without a permit.

Ordered by Magistrate Henry Soffer to dispose of the fowl, Galea said there was no market for them.

"Then eat them," the court ruled, "and eat them by June 8."

BLONDE'S DEATH PLAN HINT TOLD BY EMERY'S FRIEND

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1941

ical examiner, was the rope taken from the neck.

Dr. O'Leary testified further that when he arrived at Mrs. Steadman's apartment he found a note addressed to "Scotty" and a letter addressed to "Mr. Francis Stanwood," who is the defendant's father.

The blonde defendant wore a more cheerful mien today as she went into her fifth day of ordeal—and for the fifth day she had on a new dress.

This one—and her daily changes of garb have become a matter of keen interest for the women spectators—was a dark blue frock with a wide white collar. She retained the blue straw beret-style or pancake hat she had worn on the second day of trial.

Hardly had today's session got under way when an interruption came on a question of law and a recess was called while Judge Vincent Erogian retired to his lobby with counsel.

GARRITY BACK ON STAND

As the 27-year-old defendant was led from the courtroom, she smiled brightly on several persons and said "Hello" and her gaze, instead of being downcast as formerly, met the eyes of spectators.

Before the interruption, Garrity, friend and former business associate of Emery, had returned to the stand under direct examination by Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward M. Sullivan.

This was after Sullivan had indicated the state's case might be closed by tomorrow noon, or at any rate on Monday.

"Can you tell us," Sullivan asked Garrity, "about what time the conversation took place between you and the defendant, in which she said she had decided to let her husband know about her pregnancy?"

"It was late in September," the witness answered.

Q—Did you know Emery very well? Yes; he worked with me.

THEN LAWYERS SQUABBLE

Q—Where? A—Here in Boston. I was associated with him

Dan Donovan Robt. Garrity

at Previus, Inc. (A real estate concern.)

Q—After that, did he go into the contracting business? A—Yes; it was in the general contracting business.

When Sullivan asked what firm Emery had done business with, a question of law was raised by Defense Counsel Edward F. Flynn and the recess was called.

After it, Garrity returned to the stand.

TELS OF N. Y. MEETING

Q—Did you see Emery at your home in Newton before you met Mrs. Steadman in New York? A—Yes.

Q—What was the talk with Emery? A—He was going to meet Ruth Steadman in New York and he wanted me to meet them and to talk with Ruth. He wanted me to urge her to go back to Pittsburgh.

Q—What happened next? A—Robert Emery called me at my office in New York and I made arrangements to meet him later in the day at the Game Cock, where we had dinner.

Q—Did you have a talk with the defendant there? A—I said to the defendant that she should go back to her family. She said: "I will, providing I can come back every once in a while and meet Bobby here."

LENT HER $25

Q—Did you see her in October? A—Yes. About the middle.

Q—Prior to meeting the defendant again in New York had you seen Emery? A—Yes. He came to my home in Newton on the Sunday previous and said to me:

"Will you meet Ruth Steadman when you get back to New York and loan her some money? She hasn't enough to pay her hotel bill." He told me to tell her to go back to Pittsburgh. He also said: "I don't want Ruth or the kids hurt by this affair."

Q—What did you do in New York? A—I called her Monday and met her and went to dinner.

I said to her that she really should go back to Pittsburgh. She said to me that in spite of Judy she loved Bobby too much and had to be with him. I loaned her $25.

Q—Were you with the defendant and Emery the day she took the train to Pittsburgh? A—No, not as far as I know.

HUSBAND SCORNED HER

Q—How many times did Emery talk to you about the defendant going home to Judy in Pittsburgh? A—Several.

Q—Did you see the defendant in November? A—Yes, in New York city. She was alone.

Q—By pre-arrangement? A—Yes. She telegraphed me to meet her at Penn. Station.

Q—What happened? A—She told me she had been home to Pittsburgh and her husband didn't want her. She said: "I am taking the next train to Boston."

Q—Did you get a phone call from Mrs. Steadman some time in January? While you were in New York? A—Yes. I did at my office.

Q—When was that? A—Jan. 16.

Q—What was said? A—She said: "Is there anything new on the possible contracting job you're supposed to get for Robert?"

"WE WON'T COME BACK"

Q—Previous to this phone call did you have a talk with Emery at any place? A—On Jan. 12 I talked with Bob at my home in Newton. I said to him: "I believe I can get you a break in a contracting firm and arrange an advance payment of $500."

Q—How was his spirit when you told him that? A—Very optimistic and hopeful.

Q—Regarding the telephone conversation with Ruth on Jan. 16—what was said? A—She wanted to know what happened to the contract. I told her I couldn't get it. She said to me, "That is the end. I will say good-by, and good-by to Bobby." I said: "I'll be seeing you." She said: "To. Where we are going we won't come back."

Q—You knew Emery a long time? A—Yes.

Q—Did he ever express any suicidal intentions to you? A—No.

Atty. Flynn then took over cross-examination.

Q—Did Emery, on both occasions when you talked to him about Ruth, insist that she should go back to Pittsburgh? A—Yes.

Q—Did she tell you that she was pregnant? A—Yes. She told me in New York.

Q—Did you make any examination of her? (Sullivan objected to the phrasing of the question. Flynn then repeated: Did you make any observation? Did you notice? A—No. Naturally not.

Q—Did you discuss it with Emery? A—Yes, after she told him some time in October.

Q—Did Emery ever tell you arrangements had been made in New York for the defendant to be aborted? A—Yes.

Q—Did he ever discuss it with you? A—Never.

EMERY TOLD GARRITY

Q—Late in October, did Emery tell you that Ruth Steadman had been aborted in New York? A—Yes.

Q—Did he tell you in November that he was broke? A—Yes.

Q—Did he tell you he was broke in December? A—Yes.

Q—Did he tell you he had issued a lot of checks and had no funds to meet them? A—No.

Q—He told you he didn't have any money? A—No.

Q—You knew he was supposed to pay the bank out of the rent of that property a substantial amount every month? A—Yes.

Q—You knew on Nov. 20 the bank took the property?

A Disappointed Reception Committee

Market stalls in Faneuil Hall featured hot-weather attractions for the week-end trade today as fish prices continued to drop and meat and poultry prices held steady.

Cold-plate offerings include a display of tongues, smoked, corned and fresh; short shanked smoke shoulder, ham, and canned frankfurts packed in salt brine.

Special large eggs were quoted at 47 cts. a doz.; regulars, 42 cts.; mediums, 35 cts. and fancy westerns 34 cts. Best tub butter was 47 cts. a lb.; 5 lb. prints, 52 cts.; 1/2 lb. prints, 49 cts.; sweet butter, 55 cts.; 5 lb. box of light salted butter, 52 cts.

Sirloin and porterhouse steak continued at 75 cts. a lb.; rib roast of beef, first two ribs, 50 cts.; first three ribs, 45 cts.; last two ribs, 30 cts.; top of the round, 50 cts. and bottom of the round, 30 to 40 cts.

Pork quarters of veal are 18 cts. a lb.; legs of veal, 35 cts.; rump of veal, 30 to 35 cts.; rib veal chops, 50 cts.; kidney veal chops, 60 cts.; veal cutlets, 55 cts. Brisket of corn beef is 30 to 35 cts. a lb.; middle ribs, 25 cts.; whole or half rolled hams, 45 cts.; cooked hams in the bone, 38 cts.

Rib lamb chops are 50 cts. a lb.; kidney lamb chops, 60 cts.; regular spring lamb, 30 cts. for the legs or hindquarters and 16 cts. for the forequarters; hindquarters of fresh spring lamb, 35 cts.; forequarters, 20 cts.

Rib roast of pork is 25 cts. a lb. for the western and 30 cts. for the eastern; pork chops, 30 and 35 cts.

In poultry, northwestern turkeys are 35 cts. a lb.; native ducks, 20 cts.; broilers, 25 cts.; chilled capons, 45 cts.; chickens and "owls," 35 cts.

Chilean onions are 12 cts.; beets, 10 cts.; carrots, 8 cts.; summer squash, 12 cts.; string beans, 10 cts.; new potatoes, 7 cts.; sweet potatoes, 10 cts.; Maine potatoes, 35 cts.; celery, 25 cts.; cauliflower, 25 and 30 cts.; tomatoes, 25 and 32 cts.; broccoli, 13 cts.; peas, 10 cts.

Native spinach is 20 cts. a pk.; native asparagus, 20 cts. for the small and 40 cts. for the large; native rhubarb, 5 cts.; purple top onions, 6 cts.; native watercress, 10 cts.; iceberg lettuce, 12 cts.; scallions, 2 for 5 cts.; native romaine, 18 cts.; peppers, 5 cts. each.

California cherries are 40 cts. a lb.; canteloupe, 30 cts.; coconuts, 10 cts.; string figs, 25 cts.; wine sap apples, 60 cts.; California dates, 25 cts.; bananas, 50 to 60 cts.; pears, 75 cts.; strawberries, 30 cts. a qt. box; lemons, 30 cts.; seedless limes, 40 cts.; grapefruit, 3 and 4 for 25 cts.; pineapples, 25 cts. for the small and 75 cts. for the large; oranges, 35 to 60 cts.; alligator pears, 20 cts.; red, white, and black grapes, 25 cts.

Science Studies Biblical Flood

HOW DOES SCIENCE explain the Biblical flood? In The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with this coming Boston Sunday Advertiser, Harold T. Wilkins, the noted English explorer and student of ancient folklore, presents a special article on this subject which has puzzled man since recorded time began.

It deals with a theory, built up from study of mysterious jungle ruins and legends, as well as from the folklore of American Indians—all of which tells of an overwhelming catastrophe, centuries ago.

Don't miss this interesting illustrated feature Sunday.

HOW MUCH HEAT can a man endure—and still live?

Consider the men who work the Comstock silver mines in Nevada, where the air is 128 degrees, the water 153 degrees.

Or stokers on ocean-going steamships, who work in heat of 180 degrees.

There's an interesting brief feature in The American Weekly Sunday.

SNEEZE! Sniff! Sniff!

Just a cold, you say . . . Still, you've got something there—a mystery which 20th Century medical science would give much to solve.

What is a cold? What causes it? Working on this problem, scientists have now turned to a 7-foot tall "miracle eye," which sees with electricity and enables them to peer deeper and deeper into the world of viruses, which give us many of our most baffling diseases.

Robert D. Futrell, science editor of The American Weekly, has written a clear and easily-understandable article on this subject of interest to every one of us. Don't fail to look for it today.

writer, tells you all about a pitcher's "Woo-Pitching" woes in The American Weekly Sunday.

LIFE WAS PLEASANT enough for His Majesty the King of Cambodia—

But when they took away the last 100 of his former wives, it was more than he could endure.

The tale of an unhappy monarch, and how he lived, awaits you among the special features of this coming Sunday's American Weekly.

REMEMBER the charming and clever series, "Instantaneous Etiquette," presented some time ago by Arthur "Bugs" Baer, the famed humorist, and Fish, the brilliant English artist?

They were received with such clamor that The American Weekly continues with a new series by this remarkable team.

Can you keep your plumb when your false teeth pop out? Are you imperturbable when your 15-year-old daughter says, "Mother, you're so old-fashioned?"

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

LIKE MOST June bridal couples, Catharine Ross of Hingham and her fiancé, R. Gilpin Ervin, Jr., of Philadelphia, are having some difficulties in completing detailed plans for their wedding . . .

Mr. Ervin's brother and most of his best friends are engaged in some form of military service and because of the uncertainty of obtaining leave from camps are unable yet to accept his invitation to serve in the bridal party . . .

His brother, scheduled to be best man, is with the naval flying squadron at Jacksonville, Florida . . . and in the event that he is unable to come for the wedding the bridegroom's father, Maj. Robert G. Ervin of Box Tree Farm, Media, Pa.; will pinch hit as best man . . .

Catharine, however, is relieved of one of the greatest problems of 1941 brides—the draft . . . Mr. Ervin is engaged in aircraft production, a vital national defense industry, and undoubtedly will be exempt from the draft for some time . . . He is working in Long Island where the couple will live after their marriage . . .

The wedding is planned for Friday, June 6 in St. John the Evangelist Church in Hingham . . . The reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Ross . . .

Preceding the vivacious brunette bride down the aisle will be her sister, Mrs. Frank E. Wood, Jr., of Cincinnati, the former Sally Ross . . . Her post deb sister, Mary Ross, will be maid of honor, and younger sister, Josephine, a student at Miss Porter's School in Farmington, will be a bridesmaid . . . Completing the bevy of attendants will be Adele Ervin, sister of the bridegroom; Patricia Bayne and Charlotte McElwain of Dedham and Brookline, respectively.

The bride-to-be, a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club, is a granddaughter of Mrs. John Ross of Hingham and Mrs. Joseph R. De Camp of Boston . . . Mr. Ervin is a graduate of St. Mark's School in Southboro and a grandson of Mrs. Henry G. Nichols of Commonwealth ave. . .

Cynthia Thorndike's Wedding Next Week

AS SOON as Cynthia Thorndike's fiancé, Alexander Montgomery Thackara, arrives here from Pittsburgh next week, the signal will be sounded for a whirl of pre-wedding parties in honor of the couple . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Baker, Millis neighbors of the Thorndikes, will entertain at a cocktail party at their beautiful new estate on Memorial Day afternoon and that evening the bridal couple and their attendants will be entertained at dinner by Dr. and Mrs. John Rock of West Roxbury . . .

Mrs. George Dabney of Medfield is giving a luncheon the day of the wedding, Saturday, May 31 . . .

Cynthia and Alexander will exchange their marriage vows in St. Paul's in Dedham and afterwards receive the best wishes of their friends at a reception at Forestside Farm, Millis estate of the bride's mother, Mrs. Richard K. Thorndike . . .

Tea at Wheatland Home

GUESTS ARE ARRIVING for tea at Mrs. Stephen Wheatland's home in Chestnut Hill this afternoon with two or more books tucked underneath their arms, for the party is being given as a means of collecting books for the American Merchant Marine Library Ass'n . . . Assisting Mrs. Wheatland with plans is Mrs. H. Maynard Reese . . . Tea is being served from 4 to 7 and each guest is invited to bring at least two books . . .

Presiding at the tea tables as pourers are Mrs. Chilton Cabot, Mrs. Lea Luquer, Mrs. Charles Townsend, Mrs. Charles Lund, Mrs. Franklin Balch, Jr., Mrs. Frank O. Ingraham, Mrs. John Perrin, Miss Eleanor Hunneman, Mrs. Russell Paris, and Mrs. Mason Whiting . . .

PRISCILLA PAINE of Chestnut Hill, left, and Cynthia Thorndike of Millis, are having busy days attending pre-wedding parties and showers for the latter whose wedding takes place on May 31. They are shown leaving the Junior League after a recent luncheon. Miss Paine will be a bridesmaid at the wedding at which Cynthia will become the bride of Alexander M. Thackara of Pittsburgh.

Socialites At Opening Of Sky Garden

An evening made to order for outdoor dancing found many young socialite couples cooling off at the opening of the new Sky Garden atop the Hotel Sheraton last evening. Cool breezes rising from the meandering Charles river below made dancing very enjoyable in spite of the heat wave.

The new gypsy striped awnings, flame geraniums and arbor vitae hedge which surrounds the roof made a colorful background for the summery dresses worn by the ladies.

Celebrating the opening at a table for two were post deb Barbara Higginson and Nathaniel Sage, Jr., member of the M. I. T. No. Six Club, who pointed out several spots of interest on the campus of his Alma Mammy across the river. Blonde Celia Hubbard was escorted by Rodman Townsman and at a nearby table for four were Nancy Scott, Evelyn Mosher, "Cram" Harris, Jr., of Harvard and Ralph Leavitt.

Mary Hastings danced in a cool tan and white printed silk dress and Susanna Ayer of Milton, escorted by John Madden, wore pleated white crepe with a short black bolero printed with splashy white flowers. She had several white gardenias tucked in her dark curls. Eleanor Shaw's dinner gown was fashioned of large green and white polka dots and Mrs. John Taylor wore a two-tone blue print.

Whenever you consistently over-eat you can count on gaining in the hips. And, conversely, it is no more than reasonable to expect that this measurement would be the first affected by a diet. But that is not the way it works.

Unless you back up your diet with exercises to smooth this measurement, it may be the last to show a weight loss. If you are to count on streamlining the hips on schedule, your exercises must be planned to wear down the fat in this area. You may roll off the hip bulges with exercises like this one:

Assume a semi-sitting position on floor with weight partially supported on the hands and forearms. Now, bend the knees and hold feet off the floor, up near the buttocks. Keep this position throughout the exercise.

All set? Give yourself a vigorous shove with the right hand and roll away over on the side of the left hip and thigh. You may find that you get more momentum by flinging the right hand over to the floor on left side. Then shove with left hand and roll in opposite direction, over on right hip and thigh, flinging left hand over.

In this side-to-side roll you hit every one of those stubborn pads along the hipline. Begin with 30 counts and very gradually increase to 75, then to 100. This one exercise could almost be counted upon to solve your hip problems, but if you didn't vary your routine occasionally, it would tend to lose its effectiveness.

Another effective exercise is to lie face downward on the floor, arms up on floor overhead, legs straight down. Holding legs straight, raise first the left, then the right, leg high in air from the hip. Hold for a second and slowly lower to the floor. Alternate for 10 counts for the first few days, then increase gradually until you are doing 50.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1934

SOMETIMES truth is as strange as fiction, and sometimes it is stranger and more fantastic.

That certainly was the case a month ago, when the body of 30-year-old Joseph Brooks, condemned murderer of a patrolman, was conveyed from Charlestown State Prison's electric chair to a hospital laboratory.

At this late date, we learn that doctors worked over the current-seared corpse for more than an hour in a scientific attempt to find and fan into a vigorous flame any lingering spark of life.

The experiment failed, as Dr. William J. Brickley, the medical examiner, would.

But, he now says, it proved beyond reasonable doubt that a lethal chair occupant is irrevocably dead after electricity has coursed through his veins.

Dr. Brickley is confident about this—possibly too confident. Did he employ all the known methods of resuscitation and revival?

Or did he fail to use ingenious systems that may have escaped his attention?

Would the result have been different if the restoration efforts had been made at the scene of death rather than at a hospital a considerable distance away from the prison?

When, actually, did life depart?

Was the departure in the chair or in the speeding ambulance or in the corridor leading to the laboratory?

Such is the speculation Dr. Brickley's curiosity and grim test have inspired.

He thinks he has shown that the electric chair is dreadful in its finality.

But he cannot be completely sure about his conclusion.

ON THE OTHER HAND, it is probably just as well that Dr. Brickley's experiment did not succeed and that Brooks' body now rests in a potter's field grave.

What could the good doctor have done if the executed youth had reacted favorably to the life-giving drugs, breathed deeply, dragged himself to a sitting position and said:

"Look! I am alive. What are you going to do about it?"

As far as the law is concerned, Brooks would be dead.

He could not be returned to State Prison and given additional electrical shocks.

No official would dare to order such a procedure.

Public opinion would not tolerate it.

Nor could Brooks be carried to his Charlestown cell to be there confined until natural death claimed him.

The probability is that the revived killer would have been put to bed in a hospital room and carefully cared for.

Then, when his strength had fully come back, authorities would have been compelled to let him walk out of the institution as a free man.

WORSE TO CONTEMPLATE is the possibility that life might have been restored to Brooks' body and not to his soul.

He might have become a kind of Zombi.

He might have gone forth a semblance of his former self, able to walk and move and act, but not able to think.

Like the grotesque monsters which West African cults are supposed to conjure from bodies taken from graves, Brooks might have lingered among us for years as a grim reminder of the inadequacy of a system of punishment that presumes to destroy something which only God in His infinite wisdom can create.

SLOW-POKE DRIVERS are going to have their share of worry in Delaware.

The State's new traffic regulations say:

"When an officer sees a slow driver holding up traffic, he will be required to advise the driver to move faster. If the driver fails to comply, he will face arrest and prosecution."

We could profitably try something like that in Massachusetts.

The road mope is a menace and a pest in his own mischievous little way.

When he idles along at 20 miles an hour as though he were right and the rest of the world wrong, motorists who travel at a legal 35-mile speed are obliged to cut out of line and go around him. The result, too often, is a head-on collision, in which the driver who did not intend to break the law loses his life.

Nobody ever thinks of blaming the lily-white mope driver.

What we need more than anything else in Massachusetts are conspicuous signs on all highways informing drivers how fast they can go.

If a sign says 30 miles, every car should move at that speed. A principal reason why automobile accident deaths are setting a new record here is the fact that nobody really knows how fast or how slow he should operate his car.

Sooner or later we shall have to establish minimum and maximum speeds for all major thoroughfares and oblige patrolmen to enforce these regulations.

Because delay and postponements mean more mishaps and more needless deaths, we should put up the signs NOW.

Thy favours are but like the wind,
That kisseth everything it meets.

—ROBERT AYTON.

IN DESCRIBING a young woman similar to one Mr. Ayton refers to above, "Tad" Dorgan said: "She is like a revolving door. She goes around with anybody."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:

Q. "My husband's nickname for me is 'Toad' or 'Toadie' and he addresses me that way in front of friends. How can I get back at him?" A. Very simple, ma'am. Call him "Woggie," which is short for Polywog. . . Q. "Before I ask my question read the following:

Married in January's frosty clime,
You'll be a widow before your time.

Q. What are the similar predictions for the other 11 months?" A. You have me on that. But I'll investigate. My girl friend was married to me in March and naturally I am anxious to know if she, too, is going to be a widow before her time. Or what? . . . "My system of playing the races on poor days gives me five winners in eight races; on good days seven or eight winners in eight races. Do you want me to tell it to you?" A. No, sir. With a system like that I would win too much money. And I am afraid if I have a lot of money I will get into mischief. Or somebody will want to kidnap me? Q. "Are you a big boy on the tall side? Are you a light or dark? Have you a little hair or a lot? Do you wear spectacles?" A. Am "a big boy on the tall side," dark, get two hair cuts a week and wear no spectacles.

CONFIDENTIAL: "Why don't men stop nagging women about smoking at lunch counters?" asks a feminine client. "A man can light up a cigarette, leave the counter and go out. Women are not supposed to smoke on the street." This young woman seems to have made a just complaint. . . Instead of saying "I pronounce you man and wife" many feel the minister should say "I pronounce you husband and wife" . . . Name of an Arcadia, Calif., man who raises champion egg laying hens is Will Hatch. The ability to lay an unusual number of eggs in a hen is an inherited trait. But I never heard of anybody who sold hens furnishing buyers with a pedigree of the bird. . . Well, sir, I have never seen such a carry-on and demonstration of affection as our pup just exhibited. Occasion was a call from the veterinarian who nursed our dog through a serious illness as a pup and saved his life. You can't beat a dog for gratitude and remembering his friends.

SIDELIGHTS: "You're Only Young Twice" is said to be a book of very practical advice to women in their forties who want to make it appear they are in their thirties. . . Everything is going nicely for us. Now have a reader in Shingletown, Mich., and a California client named Miss Eloy Evert Oberdick. . . "Do you ever go home and put your feet up on a table so you can relax and think better?" asks a subscriber. Why go home to do that, sir. I just put my feet up on my desk at the office and have been doing it for years. . . Organisation of office employees known as the executive secretaries have an annual dance to which each member invites her boss and his wife. Must be an interesting moment when a man's private secretary and his wife first meet each other's gaze.

PLEASE NOTE: "Dear, Mr.

DURLING HAS QUESTION TO ASK HER
Claudette Colbert, Actress and Doctor's Wife

Tall, Dark and Egotistical" is the way a California client named Iris begins a letter to this department. I have no comment to make on this salutation right now. I am trying to think up a good comeback to put in an early issue. . . "Abbott & Costello form the best comedy team of all time," blurbs a Hollywood press agent. Certainly are careless with that "all time" designation in Hollywood. Abbott & Costello are a couple of good, hard-working boys, but are very far from being in the class of Weber and Fields, and about 40 other comedy teams in theatrical and film history.

PASSING BY: Rachel Crothers, Playwright. Has written more hits than any feminine dramatist alive. One of her first successes was "The Heart of Paddy Whack," in which Chauncey Olcott starred and sang "My Wild Irish Rose" and "A Little Bit of Heaven Dropped from the Sky One Day" . . . Lillian (Dimples) Walker. One of first of the film tial to doctors when it comes to matrimony. But I don't know why? Next time I see Irene Dunne or Claudette Colbert I must ask them what doctors have that other candidates for the hearts and hands of cinema celebrities have not. . . Dr. Sanford A. Moss. Engineering genius. He developed the supercharger, which made possible the altitude, speed and range of the modern airplane. I wish Dr. Moss and others among our brilliant American inventors would invent something that would make the airplane useless as a war weapon. And thus render the European aggressors practically helpless. And bring peace to the world. I think American inventive genius can do this. In fact, I am concentrating on the thought that it will be done.

BRIEFLY: "What stage star made the quickest jump from the ranks to stardom?" is a Detroit-er's query. It might have been Edna May, sir. Edna was 17 years old and an unknown chorus girl when George W. Lederer selected her to play the part of the Salvation Army lassie in the "Belle of New York" . . . If a man would brush his hair a hundred strokes daily he wouldn't be bald so quickly. In fact, such a procedure might make his hair grow and be of greater benefit than tonic. That's what a highly successful hair preserving and growing expert claims.

KNUDSEN PRACTICES BREVITY

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, May 23—William S. Knudsen is famed, among other things, for his directness and conservation of words. A few days ago he wrote a letter to Norman Bel Geddes, the designer and scenic artist. It read: "Dear Geddes—What are you doing about camouflage? Yours very truly, Knudsen." . . . Geddes replied: "Dear Mr. Knudsen—I'm keeping as invisible as possible. Yours very truly, Geddes" . . . When the U. S. government sends its traffic and route expert to China, to keep the Burma Road open, 12 volunteer experts will accompany him on that trip. These 12 will be paid by the Chinese government. The head man is refusing to accept any salary . . . Because Marshall Goering had planned to rename the Normandie the "Emma Goering," the Fight for Freedom Committee has started a movement to rename the seized vessel the "Eleanor Roosevelt" . . . WHEN JAPANESE Minister Katsme Wakasugi came to the University of Missouri last week to present a plaque from the American-Japanese Society of Tokio, Dean Frank Martin found a quick solution to a diplomatic problem. For another of the scheduled speakers was Jimmy Young, the correspondent who had been arrested by the Japanese last year. And Young's new book, "Behind the Rising Sun," has been banned in Japan . . . The Honorable Japanese Minister was saved the embarrassment of mounting a platform in company with a man his country had jailed. Dean Martin arranged for some students to take Wakasugi around the campus during Young's speech . . . The playful undergrad took the Japanese minister to Phi Gamma Delta house, and there had him entertain them with a jiu-jitsu exhibition. Wakasugi didn't know that Young had been indicted in Tokio as a Greek spy—for being a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

JEAN HERSHOLT, who auctioned off—for $3200—the campaign hat which President Roosevelt had presented to him could have raised more than $6000, in that auction. Robert Montgomery, who had entered the bidding, confessed to Hersholt later that he would have offered as high as $6300 . . . But when Melvyn Douglas and Edward G. Robinson, jointly, bid $3200, Hersholt had quickly announced: "Sold!" . . . Hersholt cut the bidding short, deliberately. For Douglas and Robinson supported Roosevelt, during the campaign, and planned to present it to F. D.'s Hyde Park library . . . The rival bidders, however—Montgomery and Edward Arnold—supported Willkie during the campaign, and the auctioneer didn't know what they wanted to do with that hat.

LISTEN, WORLD!

by ELSIE ROBINSON

YOUNG JIM, who graduated from Hi last year, is still kicking around the house, wondering what to do. Yes, he's done chores. Held a fairly decent job through the Christmas rush. Is "willing to take anything."

"But what's it all getting me?" complains young Jim. "I want to be something, get somewhere. I s'pose in time I'll be drafted. But I'm only 18; how about the time till then? And what'll I have to come back to if I don't learn some trade or profession now? But what chance has any fellow got to do that, except the rich ones who can go to college? Industry doesn't want kids like me. The stores don't want me either because I haven't got any experience. Everywhere I go, there's the same answer. Nobody will give me a start!"

YOUNG ALICE, who will graduate this June, is in much the same fix. Alice took a business course, although she much preferred interior decorating. Made a fine record, is swift, accurate and reliable.

"Yes, but what will it buy me?" moans Alice. "Good stenos are a drug on the market. I am up against hundreds of older and more skillful women who are willing to do my job at half the price. Besides, I don't really know whether I want to go into stenography for keeps. But I have no chance to try anything else. No kid has, nowadays. Who said this was a free land anyway?"

IT'S NO USE for youngsters who whine as an alibi for their own laziness. But here are two obviously all-around young Americans who claim that the modern kid, however ambitious, has no chance to mold his own fate.

Some day labor and industry will be looking for new blood to carry on the work of building America—THEN WHAT? Who'll take over? And, in the meantime, what are Jim and Alice to do?

Wherefore I'm handing my shiniest wreath to Mr. Robert J. Glenn, manager of a New York hotel. For Mr. Glenn is sold on the idea that Kids Need a Break. A lot of us say the same thing but we don't get around to doing it. But Mr. Glenn did it. Came National Boys and Girls Week, and instead of Just Talking, Manager Glenn gave three youngsters temporary jobs on his staff.

Leo Robotti, 16 years old, whose father is a chef, learned of the problems of a large hotel from the chief chef; Consiglia Marino, 16, became assistant to the housekeeper. And Eugene Derarri, 17, made a survey of how many guests had registered at the hotel last year. Now, maybe they will not like their jobs.

But, at least, they will have had their chances. They will have had that opportunity to contact reality which our modern world so often denies a child—the right to size things up and decide what they want to tackle.

MY DAY

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Thursday—Yesterday afternoon I shook hands with some two hundred members of the Adult Education Class of Philadelphia, Pa., who had come down to visit their capital. These groups of older people, many of whom are new citizens, are very alluring to me. They have so often been through experiences which make them particularly appreciative of living in the United States, and the capital, itself, means a great deal to them.

Afterwards I spent an hour with the regional supervisors of NYA girls' projects. In the course of going over various projects, I discovered that next Sunday, the 25th, at 3 p. m., Mr. Jules Biedsoe and the United Negro Chorus of Washington, D. C., are planning to get together in the Sylvan Theater at the Washington Monument, to sing for the benefit of the Citizens of Washington who care to come and sit on the grass and join in the singing, or just listen.

I think this is a wonderful idea and I wish it could be done every Sunday afternoon. I see in it the possibility of drawing in many of the service men who are spending their free time here, often without much money to spend and with few places which offer entertainment for the young men on a Sunday afternoon or evening.

I AM VERY SORRY that I shall have to be on my way to Arthurville, Va., on Sunday, for I speak at their school commencement on Monday morning. If this were not the case, I should certainly go down and listen to the singing. Perhaps, if I were sure that no one would hear me, I might join it, but I am not very proud of my voice.

In our emphasis on defense projects, I feel it important to remember that girls as well as boys can be fitted for defense work. They, too, must have training in order to earn their livings and live better than they have done in the past. I hope, therefore, that we shall not forget our obligation to girls in any of the government programs.

WARNERS GIVE LEAD TO BETTY FIELD

By Louella O. Parsons

Betty Field

HOLLYWOOD, May 23—The Warner clan wanted cute, little Betty Field so badly for "King's Row" that they put her into "Hot Nocturne"—and I am not trying to be funny. Here is what happened: Para agreed that Warners could have Betty on a one picture deal and since "King's Row" isn't ready, rather than take a chance of losing her they are giving talented Betty one of the top spots with Priscilla Lane and John Garfield in the swing band opus. Don't say I said so, but I bet they'll angle to keep her in "King's Row" too.

Now about Priscilla Lane. She is wonderful in "Million Dollar Baby" and so good in her comedy scenes. She is so pretty and smartly dressed that I am certainly glad they have taken her out of the endless "Four Daughters," "Wives," "Mothers" and "Grandmothers" series Priscilla will sing in "Hot Nocturne" for the first time in over a year. Anatole Litvak directs from the script by Edwin Gilbert and Bob Rosson.

PRISCILLA LANE

also in the cast.

WHEN I SAW Buddy Rogers, as handsome as when he was the deb's dream with Jane Withers in "Golden Hoofs," and said I bet he would remain in Hollywood and concentrate on the movies instead of his band. Well, Buddy is making my prediction come true because this week he checks in at RKO for a comedy role in "Lord Epping Sees A Ghost." When I say comedy, I don't mean slapstick for Buddy has the romantic lead opposite Lupe Vélez—but the part has humor and witty dialogue as well as just straight hero-ing. Quite a cast has been lined up for this movie: Leon Errol plays his lordship who sees the spook and Zasu Pitts is

THE ELLEN DREW-CY BARTLETT nuptials are now set for the middle of July at which time it is expected Ellen will have finished her part in "The Remarkable Andrew" with William Holden and Brian Donlevy. Yes, Ellen goes into the Dalton Trumbo story. She is now at Columbia in "Our Wife" and the talk is that John Stahl is so pleased that Columbia may whip up one of those star-sharing deals with Paramount which would be very good for Ellen for she would get a whack at movies in both studios. Cy, by the way, hasn't been doing so badly. He sold a story to Sam Wood and one to a well known producer—all within a week.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Broderick Crawford is so happy that he just had to break the news today that he and Mrs. C., the former Kay Griffith, expect a visit from the stork in January. He is already planning a nursery. He and Kay have been away on a vacation and the first person he told when he returned was his mother, Helen Broderick, who will be a grandmother for the first time. Even Helen's career as a comedienne is second to this big event. Bro is to be starred in another western, "Bad Lands of Dakota" with Andy Devine, Mischa Auer and Leo Carrillo as his hard riding, gun-toting partner.

SNAPS SHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: 'Tis whispered that Judy Garland and Dave Rose will announce their wedding plans at Judy's birthday party June 10; Norman Kerry's step-daughter, Mrs. Stewart Palmer, wife of the mystery thriller writer, welcomed a baby in San Diego yesterday and they are calling her Penelope Rosine; Hedy Lamarr and John Howard are no longer an item; saw Spencer Tracy on the M-G-M lot and he said home looked awful good to him; Lois Ransom, pretty Republic starlet, and Chet Rood, are expected to make an announcement any day; Cary Grant and Barbara Hutton a happy dinner duet at the Beverly Tropics.

GENE RAYMOND has spent hours trying to coax Jeanette MacDonald to fly with him. She has never been in a plane; Brenda Marshall spending the evening at Columbia studio watching Bill Holden work; Dorothy Lamour leaves the 28th for Honolulu and she will get a real reception for they love her on the island.

BLONDE'S DEATH PLAN TESTIFIED

Before the witness could answer, Sullivan stood.

LAWYERS IN TILT

"Judge," he said, "I'll agree Emery was broke. Why waste all this time?"

"I wouldn't brag about it," Atty Flynn said.

"Yeah?" Sullivan snapped; "you're the kind of guy who would brag about it."

Then Atty. Flynn resumed questioning.

Q—You had some talk with Wentworth relative to that $600 check? A—No.

Q—Did you have some arrangement with Wentworth which you later relayed to Emery that Emery would collect no further rents of the property in Revere? A—Yes.

Q—When was that arrangement? A—Nov. 20.

Q—And you discussed it with Emery? A—No.

Q—Did you at any time tell Emery that that agreement had been made with the bank? A—No.

SAYS EMERY KNEW

Q—So Emery knew nothing about that agreement? Is that true? A—No.

Q—What do you mean? That he didn't know or that it isn't true? A—It isn't true.

Q—Did he know? A—Certainly.

Q—Did you have a subsequent talk at which time Wentworth told you that Emery had continued to collect rents?

Sullivan objected, the question was excluded, and Garrity was excused.

The next witness was Miss Mary E. Osgood assistant secretary at the Harvard Business School. She is a woman of about 50, small and frail in appearance, gray-haired, bespectacled, dressed modestly.

Sullivan questioned her.

Q—Did you have a Ruth Steadman working at Harvard? A—Yes.

Q—When was her last day of work? A—Jan. 18.

PAPER IN EVIDENCE

Sullivan showed her a sheet of office paper.

Q—Did you see Ruth Steadman make this out and sign it? A—Yes.

Sullivan offered the page, Flynn objected, but it was accepted and Miss Osgood was excused.

Next to appear was Special Officer Dennis C. Mahoney of the Joy st. police station. Sullivan asked questioned him.

Q—Did you go to the defendant's apartment on Jan. 21 last? A—I did.

Q—What time? A—About 2:30.

Q—What did you see? A—I saw a body on the floor. I walked to the front of the house and in a bed was a form under a sheet. Officer Daniel Donovan came in. I saw the officers take the girl out of the bedroom wrapped in a blanket, sitting in a chair. Dr. Jacob Shapiro was examining the body on the floor.

DOROTHY GREENLEAF, Nurse in Training Called to Testify

Q—Did you go to the kitchenette? A—Yes.

Q—Did you see anything there? A—Yes. I saw several bottles on the shelf. There was a half-gallon bottle with some whiskey in it.

Q—Schenley's? A—Yes. There was a small quantity in it. I saw a bottle with some soda water in it and also a full bottle of soda water.

Q—Did you see a quart of Black and White Scotch? A—Yes. He was shown a Black and White bottle and identified it.

Q—Did you see any drinking glasses? A—Yes. One glass had a lot of white powder settled in the bottom of it.

The officer then identified the Schenley bottle, the soda bottles, three glasses, one with a spoon in it. He identified two cardboard containers.

Q—Did you see a green breadboard? A—Yes.

He identified the breadboard on which the prosecution alleges Mrs. Steadman powdered the pills—and a nail.

Q—Did you notice any white substance on the breadboard? A—Yes.

After that question the morning recess was called.

O'LEARY TELLS OF BODY

Dr. Cornelius J. O'Leary, associate medical examiner, northern district of Suffolk County, was the first witness called after the recess.

Prior to the doctor's testimony, Judge Brogna ruled the presence would be allowed in the courtroom of six medical men who are to testify in behalf of the State.

Dr. O'Leary testified he had examined 468 cases of death by violence, 63 of which had been by strangulation, and 44 by poison drugs.

Q—Tell us what you did the afternoon of Jan. 21 when summoned to the apartment at 135 Brighton St. A—I arrived at the apartment shortly after 3 p. m. The police were there. I looked at the body lying on the floor and on further examination of the apartment found a note addressed to "Jenny" and two glasses with a white substance in the bottom.

IDENTIFIES DEATH ROPE

Q—What else, doctor? A—There was an overturned chair. I went over to another table—a radio table—and there was a letter addressed to a Mr. Francis Skaewood (father of the defendant). In the kitchenette I noticed a bottle of soda, a scotch whiskey bottle, and a two-quart bottle of rye. An ice pick was sticking in the wall and a pair of rubber gloves and a towel were on top of the ice chest.

Q—Did you go into the bathroom? A—Yes.

Q—Did you see any ropes in there? A—Yes. Two. They were on a hook, hanging down.

Q—Describe how they were. A—The uppermost one was wound round the nozzle with an ordinary slipknot with about five inches of rope hanging from the nozzle. The second rope was tied to the first one in an ordinary knot with a noose hanging from it about 18 inches in length.

He was shown a piece of rope by Sullivan and identified it as one he removed from the body of Emery at the morgue.

ROPE DRAW NIGHT

Q—When you first saw this rope round Emery's neck in the apartment, describe the appearance. A—I found the knot was tied right below the Adam's apple and a little to the left of the mid line. The knot looked like a check knot so it would not slip. There was also a slip knot in it. I tried to get my index finger between the skin and the rope. I couldn't do it because the rope was too tight.

Q—When did you learn the

BOSTON After DARK

By GEORGE HOLLANS

IT'S CERTAINLY HOT ENOUGH to talk about some summer plans—even if the premature scorcher which gripped the town last eventide was belied by a throng which was reminiscent of New Year's Eve at the Coconut Grove . . . That Grove party, dear readers, was a humdinger, and more about it anon, or below.

HERE, MEANTIME, ARE some bulletins about the attractions which will be on view, hither and yon, in our nest of summer theaters, a month or two hence . . . The first is a father and daughter item . . . Ralph Morgan is the father, and his radiantly beautiful child, Claudia, is the daughter . . . Claudia and her dad will play at the Cape Playhouse, Dennis, in "The Bill of Divorcement," an early Katharine Cornell starring vehicle.

CLAUDIA HAS APPEARED in a Massachusetts "straw hat" theater heretofore . . . She was the accent in "Accent on Youth" at the Cohasset Town Hall . . . Currently, she is playing the Edith Atwater role in the New York company of "The Man Who Came to Dinner." . . . From the sublime to the ridiculous now, we have the fun of announcing that Milton Berle is going to pass a summer in these parts.

THE LEADING MAN of "Tall, Dark and Handsome" has gotten himself a play—something called "Keep Punching, Brother" . . . Although this sounds like a cheery word of encouragement to Buddy Baer, it is nevertheless a sure-enough play . . . Dispatches from Hollywood do not reveal the name of the author, and we are entitled to a suspicion of our own that Mr. Berle, a versatile lad, may have written it himself.

AT ANY RATE, HE PLANS to star himself—(naturally), and to even now casting subordinate players who are willing to tour such New England "straw hats" rope? A—I opened the check knot and the slip knot at the morgue. Then I removed the rope.

A third rope introduced was identified by Dr. O'Leary as a piece 34 inches long found in a paper bag near the refrigerator in the Steadman apartment.

He then described the autopsy performed that nit at the morgue, begun at 9:30 and not finished till 3 a. m. next day.

SCAR ON EMERY'S NECK

He told of a ridge about Emery's neck about 4.1 centimeters wide, caused by the rope. The ridge ran around the neck.

The doctor said he discovered a slight dislocation on the abdomen. There was about 73 cc. (cubic centimeters) of a "pea-soupy" and bluish fluid in the stomach, he continued.

"He had a well nourished, well built body," Dr. O'Leary said.

Police declared the official medical examiner's report said Emery's death was caused by "congestion of poisoning and strangulation." In the midst of Dr. O'Leary's testimony, word was carried that as can be booked for Mr. Berle and his nucleus-company. (A nucleus-company is a comparatively recent development, given impetus last year by Edward E. Horton . . . It contributes a play, the leading players and casts the balance from the stock players all competent summer theaters keep on hand.)

BUT THE MOST STARTLING note of all which has to do with a summer theater in this neck of the woods is an authentic lead-all bulletin that Jinx Falkenburg, who was so attractive in "Hold On to Your Hat" that some critics blame her for bringing about a collapse by Al Jolson (who nominally was the star), is coming to Dennis . . . Richard Aldrich, the towering and talented boss of the Cape Playhouse, has signed Jinx for a major role in "Old English" . . . C. Aubrey Smith (we should certainly mention) will be starred . . . And the date of the first night is July 7.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY:

Mickey Alpert was paid such a tribute in last night's sweltering heat that the handsome bandmaster must feel repaid for the industry and sincerity he has shown in making the Coconut Grove a landmark in the local after-dark scene.

THE OCCASION WAS the one hundred-and-second consecutive Thursday night on which, under Mickey's regime, a "guest night" has been held at the Grove . . . For convenience, the event was called a "100th Guest Night"

Lost Boy, 3, Tells Parents He Saw 'Twains'

WOODSTOCK, Md., May 23 (AP)

—Sunburned and scratched by briars, 3-year-old Eldridge Albright summed up a 24-hour jaunt into the woods with the report that he saw "twains."

The boy, hunted since Wednesday afternoon by an army of searchers, was found late yesterday four miles from his farm home, curled up in a bed of leaves, fast asleep.

The frightened child could not tell his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Albright, anything of his experience.

Eldridge shook his head when his mother asked if he had had any food or water, and to question of where he had gone or what he had seen, answered simply: "Twains." Tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad are nearby.

34 First Lady's Social Secretary Sees Many Precedents Smashed

A walking "who's who" of Washington official society for three decades is the way some persons describe Mrs. James M. Helm, personal friend of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as well as her social secretary. Vesta Kelling tells of her work in this concluding story of the capital "petticoatier."

By VESTA KELLING

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP Special News Service)—One morning long ago Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt found more mail on her kidney-shaped mahogany desk in the White House than she could answer herself.

The State Department sent over someone to help her out, and ever since the White House social secretary has been an institution.

Today America's first social secretary is Mrs. James M. Helm, a Navy daughter and widow and a personal friend of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She directs a corps of six stenographers, messengers and fancy penmen, which has increased to as many as 20 when the social season surges to its peak along the Potomac.

In the past eight years Edith Helm has arranged social affairs ranging from a state banquet in honor of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of England to parties featuring musical chairs and pop crackers given for guests of the Roosevelt grandchildren.

At thirteen, Mrs. Helm had cracked a bottle of champagne over the prow of the then cruiser Benham when it was launched, named for her father, the late Rear-Admiral Andrew Benham.

Later in life she again qualified for the exclusive society of Navy sponsors when she christened the destroyer Helm, named after her husband, the late Rear-Admiral Helm.

Mrs. Helm, as Edith Benham, was social secretary to the second Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and accompanied her to the peace conference in 1919.

Mrs. Roosevelt is the first wife of any President to keep two secretaries busy. And she did not know she would need them until after the first Inauguration Day.

Early in the New Deal, Mrs. Helm, a great one for tradition, watched social precedent after precedent dissolve in the warmth of Mrs. Roosevelt's hospitality.

ACCEPTS CHANGES

She has gradually become resigned to the fact that Eleanor Roosevelt, who entertains far more than any of her predecessors, makes her own rules about who shall and who shall not be invited.

Mrs. Helm has an apartment at 2301 Connecticut ave., and walks to the White House every morning, arriving around 9:30. She sees that Mrs. Roosevelt has a list of each day's functions on her desk every morning. At the last minute before important functions, Mrs. Helm reminds Mrs. Roosevelt who her dinner partners are to be, and, as Mrs. Roosevelt once put it, does anything else to "add to my comfort the pleasure of my guests."

SHE OWNS FARM
Now in her sixties, Mrs. Helm is a small and gracious lady with merry eyes who loves pretty clothes, particularly flowered hats. She has long, brown-gray hair which she brushes straight back from her forehead and twists into a tidy knot at her neck.

Today she is a veritable walking "who's who" of three decades of Washington society, official and cave-dwelling.

In 1920 she was married to Rear-Admiral Helm, who retired shortly thereafter.

Mrs. Helm spends a great deal of time and money on charities, particularly for children.

In June each year she leaves for Grayville, Ill., on the Wabash river, where she has a farm and raises corn.

THE great lack of Vitamin B components in the average American diet has been pointed out time and time again in literature on nutrition. The increasing use of highly refined foods; the deterioration, or overmilling of our grains; the fact that B is water soluble and is likely to be lost when water in which food is cooked is discarded are factors that lead to deficiency.

B complex is now recognized to be a group of ten or even more vitamins. At least four of these have been demonstrated to be essential in human nutrition. Increasing evidence shows that other factors of the B complex are also essential.

A wide variety of clinical conditions result from B complex deficiency. Apparent deficiencies of one factor of B are often multiple. The evidence favors the use of the entire Vitamin B complex in both the prevention and treatment of indicated deficiencies either clinical or subclinical. Present studies indicate that the body cannot store enough of this Vitamin B complex to meet requirements for any considerable time. Cheney's whole B complex has a natural dried yeast base, strengthened and fortified, containing all the factors of B complex in balance.

Birthday

Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE
Friday, May 23, 1941

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—Bright mind, probably quick in direct answers. Not jealous, but sometimes may be petty. Need religion and self-mastery to guide you along the right road. You have tremendous energy which must be expended on adequate and productive tasks for proper benefits. Don't spend for the wrong things and overlook buys of value. Be tactful in criticisms. Confer with people of authority and high intelligence whenever possible.

LUCKY NUMBER—Today's lucky number is 17.

LUCKY COLOR—Today's lucky color is hazel.

Send 15 cents and large self-addressed stamped envelope to Frances Drake, Boston Evening American, Box 2128, Boston, for an individual horoscope, personal guide and lucky calendar for the first six months of 1941, giving the day and month you were born.

You Can Be Beautiful

Very Latest in Cosmetics;
Real Luxury at a Price

By ARLINE GOULD

IT'S CERTAINLY the wave of the future... where cosmetics are concerned... a new and exciting idea which has just arrived in Boston! It will solve the problem of providing beauty-making wherewithal, come what may on the metal or packaging situation... and at the same time it's a coup in the creation of detectable new makeup, in glorious colors!

After two years of unceasing research, a new plastic was contrived to make permanent, durable containers for everything your dressing table needs... from lipstick to dusting powder box. And the idea is... from there on... to buy the tefilli, which are modestly priced... especially when you consider that these are new cosmetic formulas, as improved and beautiful as the containers themselves!

These containers are actually breathtaking in their exquisiteness. The plastic used is called "mystite"... and it is mysterious in its limpid look and its tremendous durability. It's like pink dew, solidified... and each box has a motif of a hand carved flower sunken in the transparent plastic. Even the lipstick case has this lustrous blossom.

You'll discover the lip rouge as a revelation in soft smoothness... marvelous for tender, sensitive lips... lasting... even-textured so it doesn't cake or "spot." One careful application and you can forget about it for hours. There are five new shades... two types of rouge, dry and paste... five tones of face powder... and loads of other toilet essentials... all in the lovely lustrous stuff, the pink dew "mystite" cases. Luxury at a price!

To learn about this exciting new development in cosmetics, phone Arline Gould, Liberty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Love and Marriage

May Think He's Too Young

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I met a girl during the last part of the summer of 1940, and knew at once that I was going to like her; she seemed to like me very much. She is 19 and I'm 18. We never went steady but she seldom went out with any other boys.

One day she told me she was going back to her former boyfriend, which hurt me very much.

I don't believe she was telling me the truth, because I saw her with an entirely different person.

When she moved away from this neighborhood, I tried to make dates with her. She always said she was dated up, but one day I passed her house and saw she was there when she was supposed to be on a date with someone else. She accepted my invitation to go dancing, but still refuses to make dates with me.

Am I foolish for being crazy over her? Do you think I ought to ask her why she lied to me? I do want to keep her friendship.

J. I. M.

The best way to keep people's friendship is not to pin them down as to why they do certain things. Young people often tell fibs, and girls are supposed to excel in this art. It's much better, if you're interested in keeping a friendship, not to demand explanations.

As you're a year younger than the girl, that may explain her actions. Just go along with her, and don't be too insistent on explanations.

Age-Old Triangle

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm in love with a married woman who is a few years my senior. I realize I have no right to fall in love with this woman, but love is unexplainable. I have thought myself to be in love many times, but now I know it is the real thing.

She is very sweet and lovely. I am also acquainted with her husband—a friend of mine. He is a fellow who shows no love or appreciation for a wife. He wants her and yet he doesn't. What should I do?

I have never told the girl I love her. Should I do this or should I forget all? I know it will hurt and be hard for me, but if it's for the best, that's the way I want it.

T. A. A.

You've been letting pity, which the poet assures us is akin to love, run away with you. There's a terrific lot of messiness to be gone through before one takes the bit in his teeth, persuades the lady to get a divorce and marries the wife of someone he has called "friend."

You tell me love is unexplainable, and you're dead right. But why entell yourself as one more victim of the crassness of Cupid?

Manners

Son's Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My son is to be married and my daughter has been invited to be maid of honor. Who is supposed to pay for the maid of honor's dress?

N. B.

The bride decides what her attendants' costumes shall be. And each attendant pays for her own dress, hat and other necessary accessories. The bride or her family supplies the flowers for the attendants.

Add Glamour to Your Bread Puddings

By MARTHA LEE

AS EVERY good cook knows, it's the way bread pudding is prepared that elevates it to the status of a delicious dessert or lets it descend to the realm of the unappetizing. You can make it delicate, vary it with fresh or canned fruits, chocolate, or different flavorings. You can make it with dry bread, fresh bread or toast.

Bread pudding can be eaten hot or cold, with cream, jelly or a hot fruit sauce—and it is both delicious and wholesome, with glamour for the eye and a saving for the budget. Try some of these recipes:

ANGEL BREAD PUDDING

2 cups cubed day-old bread
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup cooked, pitted prunes, cut in pieces
1 lemon, grated rind and juice
2 tsp. margarine
1 egg, separated
2-3 cup evaporated milk, mixed with
2-3 cup water
2 tbs. sugar
Place small cubes of bread in baking dish, stir in sugar, prunes, lemon rind and juice; dot over with margarine. Beat egg yolk, add to milk and water. Pour over mixture in baking dish and let stand 15 minutes. Have the gas oven preheated to 325 deg. F. or "slow" and bake pudding for 50 minutes.

MERINGUE

Prepare a meringue by beating the egg white stiff, then incorporating the tablespoon of sugar, blending to a glossy smoothness. Spread on the pudding, return it to the oven and continue the baking for 15 minutes until meringue is delicately browned. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BREAD PUDDING

2 cups day-old bread cubes
2 cups milk
3 tbs. butter
1/4 cup sugar
2 eggs
Dash of salt
1/4 tsp. vanilla
Cut bread (crusts and all) in 1/2 to 3/4-inch cubes; place in buttered baking dish (1-quart size). Mix the milk, butter and sugar and heat just enough, while stirring, to dissolve the sugar and melt the butter. Beat eggs lightly, add the salt and then stir in the warm (not hot) milk and the vanilla; pour over bread cubes. Set the baking dish in pudding mold (about 1 1/2 quart pan of hot water; bake in a mod-size) with bread strips, overlapping oven (350 deg. F.) for abouting edges of bread; also line bottom hour or until a small knife comes out clean when it is inserted in the center of the pudding. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE BREAD PUDDING

1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces
3 cups cold milk
1 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
1 1/2 cups 1/4-inch cubes day-old bread

Add chocolate to milk in double boiler and heat. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine sugar and eggs. Add chocolate mixture gradually, stirring vigorously. Add vanilla. Place bread in greased baking dish. Pour mixture over it. Place dish in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (325 deg. F.) 50 to 60 minutes, or until pudding is firm. Serve hot with hard sauce, or cold with cream. Makes 6 servings.

APPLE CHARLOTTE

2-3 cup sugar
3 tbs. water
2 lbs. tart apples
1/2 cup raisins, seedless
1/4 tsp. lemon rind
3 tbs. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
Few grains nutmeg
2 tbs. orange marmalade
About 5 slices fresh bread
About 1/4 cup melted butter
Combine sugar and water in saucepan; bring to a boil. Add peeled, cored sliced apples; raisins, lemon rind and juice to syrup; cook until apples are tender. Remove from heat; add cinnamon, nutmeg and marmalade. Discard crusts from sliced bread; brush slices on both sides with melted butter; cut each slice in about 1-inch strips. Line a straight-sided

MAIN DISH SALAD FOR SPRING SUPPERS

RECIPE

DEVILED EGG SALAD—Cut 6 hard cooked eggs in halves lengthwise, then remove yolks. Mash yolks; then add 3 tablespoons Heinz India Relish, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 3 tablespoons Heinz Mayonnaise and 1 teaspoon Heinz Pure Cider Vinegar. Mix well. Re-fill whites, then place three halves per serving in a nest of watercress. Place a spoonful of Heinz Mayonnaise in center. Serve with crisp whole wheat crackers as illustrated.

FOR that extra flavor that makes folks remember your salads, use Heinz Vintage Vinegars! These clear, sparkling vinegars are patiently mellowed in wood to full strength. That's why they go further! Select your favorites of Heinz four kinds: Cider, Malt, Tarragon and Distilled White. See how much better your salads taste!

The Best Policy

by CHARLES MCGUIRK

WHEN he was sure that the young policeman was staring at his prison-pale and furtive person, Willie Wade's eyes searched frantically for a get-away from force of habit. But then he remembered that the law had nothing on him so he kept on walking toward him, giving him stare for stare.

When they were almost abreast, the policeman grinned and said, "Hi," and grinned back at him. That explained the man's triumphant feeling, was one of the rewards of being an honest man. He liked it.

This venture into honesty was a brand new experience for Willie. The only times he had been honest before were when he was serving his various prison sentences as a very efficient pickpocket. But he had been honest from choice for five days now, since he had completed his latest—and he believed his last—stretch. He had been converted by the warden who on the day he discharged him presented the argument logically in terms Willie could understand.

"You crooks," the warden had said, "aren't wise guys. You're suckers. Honesty is the best policy. If you don't believe it, try and remember one honest man you've met here in prison. You can't because there aren't any in here. They're all on the outside. Why don't you get wise to yourself, Willie, and stay out of places like this?"

Willie, who was known as "Lightning" because of the speed with which he could snatch a jewel, a bundle of money or a puke, had been deeply impressed. All right, he decided, he'd go straight. He'd see how well this honesty racket paid off.

But as he walked now through the crowded shopping district he almost regretted his decision. He had never seen so much lost begging to be stolen. Expensively gowned women hurried from here to there wearing jeweled necklaces, euniburns and pendants, their handbags dangling for any dip to snatch. Prosperous men sauntered along, their bulging wallets hanging half out of their hip pockets. Willie thrust his itching hand deep into his pockets so that his long fingers wouldn't start working by themselves. And then he saw the half dollar.

A REFORMED MAN
He swooped upon it, telling himself it would buy his lunch. But then he remembered he was an honest man. He would have to turn in this money so that it could be returned to its rightful owner. Virtue was glowing in him as he looked around for a policeman. The nearest one was directing traffic three blocks uptown. Willie strode purposefully to him and handed him the coin, explaining he had found it on the sidewalk.

Suspicion grew in the policeman's eyes as he stared at him. "Don't get me into this," he said. "Take it over to the Pendleton station. They'll make a note of it." Willie knew where the Pendleton station was but he had never been in it because he had never worked this district. It was six blocks away and as he walked there, he earnestly hoped that no member of the pickpocket squad would be hanging around. It would be embarrassing.

No detective at all reposed among the odors of disinfectant, unswapped dust, stale coffee and caged bodies that hung over the station house, but the lieutenant on duty seemed even more sus-sergent directed, "Take it to the Grand ave. station. That's where you should have went in the first place."

NO TURNING BACK

Grand ave. was three miles uptown, a mile above Pendleton st. and Willie had had no lunch. But he was in too deep to pull out now. If he disappeared with the half dollar, there was no telling what the police might think—or do. He began to understand that being honest isn't as simple as it looks.

At the Grand ave. station, a captain, Capt. Needham, presided at the desk while a sergeant and two patrolmen looked on. The captain looked mean. There was a strike somewhere in the precinct and it compelled him to be on duty. He gave Willie a dirty look when he put the half dollar on his desk and told him he had found it. "Found it, eh?" he sneered.

"You're sure about that? What's your name?"

"George Underwell," Willie told him untruthfully.

"Sixteen, twenty, Woodhall ave." "What were you doing in the shopping district at the time you found this money?"

"Why?" Willie said, "it's my day off and I was shopping around for a pair of shoes."

"Shoes, eh? And you never thought that his half dollar might cut the price of your shoes that much. Why not? Because you are an honest man."

He laughed nastily and looked at the sergeant and the two patrolmen, so they laughed, too. He looked very slick in his spic and span uniform with the gold badge pinned on it. Willie wanted to punch him in the nose.

The captain was bent over the book writing down Willie's last answer when two more patrolmen brought in three strike pickets who had been rioting. The pickets looked as though they'd lost the battle, but there was plenty of fight still in them.

"Hello, Bottle Nose," one of them addressed the captain. "How's the ol' Cossack?"

"Shut your mouth," ordered one of the guarding policemen. "Have some respect for your betters."

"Nuts," answered the picket and swung on him. The cop raised his arm, whereupon another picket slugged him behind the ear. The second cop helped his neighbor. The two patrolmen who had been waiting joined the fray. So did the sergeant. The captain leaped down from his desk and started for the riot. As he joined it, he threw a punch. It landed on Willie. Willie reacted instinctively. He was the one next to the bottom when they untangled the participants.

The sergeant and the four patrolmen all helped throw the three pickets into cells. The captain resumed his seat at the desk. Willie, pale and damp with perspiration, stood reflectively watching him. The captain never looked at him. He stared down at the notes he had written in the book. The sergeant and the four patrolmen stood watching him.

"O. K., Diogenes," the captain sneered. "We'll hold this half a dollar for six months. If nobody claims it in that time, it's yours."

A SAD DISCOVERY

Willie hurried out of there and up the street. He was good and discouraged.

Behind him in the station, the captain finished reading what he had written.

"What do you think of a sap like that, coming in at a time like this and making us keep books for a lousy half a dollar?" he asked. He looked at the clock. It was stopped, as usual. "What time have you got, sergeant?" he demanded.

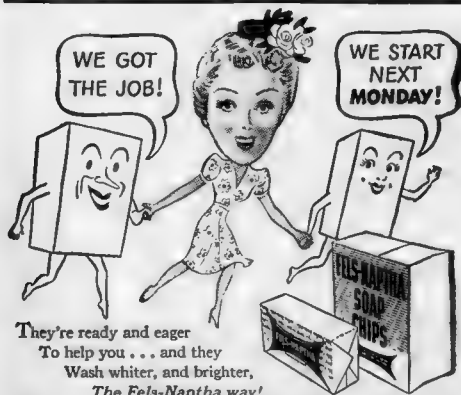

The sergeant felt for the big gold watch, attached to a gold chain as heavy as rope, which reposed in his vest pocket. It was gone. He frisked his other pockets. So were his wallet and some change. He looked at the captain and saw that he was no longer wearing his gold badge. Speechlessly, he pointed at the captain's chest.

The captain clapped his hand to his heart. The badge, indeed, was gone. His hand moved frantically about his person and then told him that he, too, had been robbed. So had three of the patrolmen.

Six blocks away, Willie Wade looked furtively up and down the street and then dropped a gold police captain's badge and five empty wallets in a city waste receptacle. He began to smile, registering the peace and good humor that had again taken possession of him. He walked away, still smiling. He had made a good haul and learned all he wanted to know about Honesty. He could take it or leave it alone.

Among Best of Aviation Films

By PEGGY DOYLE

All God's chillun will want wings . . . whether or not they are of draft age or sex . . . when they see Paramount's soaring air drama, "I Wanted Wings," take off from Metropolitan screens.

There is nothing ersatz about "I Wanted Wings," unless you except the over-emphasized Veronica Lake's spurious charms which somehow seem too earthy an intrusion on this air drama which is at its best when it is being written in the skies.

But, on second thought, it appears that the studio officials had something there when they indulged in what has been cited as flagrant miscasting. For Veronica Lake (where a lot of the boys would like to spend their vacations) turns out to have an all-high nuisance value . . . The women won't grant her anything, say she's ugly, and the men, who carry the names of the four swell male stars, are flocking to "I Wanted Wings" to see Miss Lake and remaining for a second showing to see those magnificent, inspiring flights of airplanes soaring gloriously into the sky.

Before we toss out Miss Lake and her parachutes might be stated for the record that she is the screen's only female One-Eyed Connolly. Honest, through most of her footage she has her one honey-colored hair so draped over one side of her face only her left eye is visible.

And now for the picture's real stars—Ray Milland, Wayne Morris, William Holden and Brian Donley. The first three are rookies who, after preliminary training at Randolph, transfer to Kelly Field, advanced instruction, at both fields, fortunately, under the stimulating guidance of Donley.

The Army Air Corps co-operated fully with the studio in making this first of our defense propaganda films and consequently the detailed though swift air course Met audiences are receiving is as authentic as it is breath-taking. Throughout, there is that feeling of being in a plane and up in the clouds, fighting your way out of trouble and having to think quick with all the odds against you. Milland, heretofore always too polished and suave from where he sat, makes up for everything as the gilded but right-hearted Jeff Young. Wayne Morris, cocky, comic ex-football star surprised us with its rightness, and Holden, as the hard-working mechanic trying to condition himself to a new life, in first-rate. Donley, as we said,

Jack Oakie in Radio Film Romp

Merry Time at Keith Memorial

In these uncertain times, looking backward is more pleasant than peeking ahead around the next corner. And so it is inevitable that "Great American Broadcast," which recaptures the early days of radio broadcasting, should receive a warm welcome from Keith Memorial regulars.

Co-starring Jack Oakie, Alice Faye, John Payne and Cesar Romero, this 20th Century-Fox production completes the trilogy begun with "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "Tin Pan Alley." It should duplicate the boxoffice success of its popular predecessors.

While its story is no great shakes, "Great American Broadcast" has most of the necessary ingredients to make this a demand dish with average movie-goers. Notable is Jack Oakie's ebullience and all-around excellence as a performer and personality. He has a downright vital quality that reaches out and gives heart to a rather unimportant script. It is a quality, apparently, that has an energizing effect on fellow-actors, for Miss Faye, Payne, Romero and the rest of a capable cast all carry on as if they forget the camera was following them and perform with a naturalness that is captivating. Of course, Archie Mayo's deft direction is not to be disregarded.

Utilizing the memorable Dempsey-Wildie fight, the championship fight in Toledo to point up radio's debut in the broadcasting of such events, the screen-writers have deliberately been careless with their dates. But you won't mind unless you're a crosspatch about such things because the net result is a genuinely interesting sequence.

Briefly, the story is concerned with Oakie, Payne, Miss Faye and Romero as pioneers in radio broadcasting. Oakie is one of those early radio "hams," tinkering with a crystal set in his room until Payne gives them the idea of broadcasting as an entertainment possibility combined with commercial advertising. Miss Faye, speaking some first-rate songs and songs, falls in love with Payne. This breaks up the threesome for a while but eventually all is forgiven.

Mack Gordon and Harry Warren write some first-rate songs and songs, falls in love with Payne. This breaks up the threesome for a while but eventually all is forgiven. Mack Gordon and Harry Warren write some first-rate songs and songs, falls in love with Payne. This breaks up the threesome for a while but eventually all is forgiven.

Woolcott Aide Ex-Edwards Star

Diminutive Joseph E. Marks, who lends his talents as a dialect comedian to the role of Prof. Metz in the Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman comedy, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," at the Colonial Theater, was born on the lower East Side of New York city from whence many famous theatrical personages have sprung.

Marks was a boy soprano in a choir when the famous Gus Edwards heard him and engaged him for a vaudeville act called "School-days" in which he played a Holland "heine".

After several years of vaudeville and a dozen Broadway musicals, including "The Girl From Rector's," Marks formed his own act and toured the world in his inimitable Dutch role. Several years ago he settled in Hollywood, appeared in the cinema productions of "Foolish" "Marriage" "Outside of Paradise" "Wife Open Face" and other films, and has since alternated as a script writer and acting in the legitimate theater.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" goes into its second and final week on Monday.

46 Austen Lake MAN WHO'D FIGHT LOUIS FOR A PLATE OF ICE CREAM

THE TIME WAS A MONTH AGO. The place was a beer-and-biscuit rendezvous in London's Piccadilly Circus, a sub-cellar brasserie where the male and female flotsam of the vast, bomb-battered metropolis, gathered after blackouts. The air-sirens had "Woo-wood" long ago, and the deep cavern was crowded. Beer was nine pence a bottle, sherry a shilling, the refuge was free.

AUSTEN LAKE

There was something reminiscent about the broad, slope-shouldered back and thick, pocked neck of the men in airforce blue who sat sipping a beaker of brew. It was his crumpled left ear I noticed first, the bashed-in saddle of his nose and the lowering leer of his brows, thick with calcified cartilage. But I knew him finally by the sharp, acrid bite of his voice... No doubt about it—Welsh Tommy Farr.

One's memory drifted back to that September afternoon at Long Branch, N. J., when Tommy was adding the last licks of polish for his bout with Joe Louis in a camp fraught with mutual mistrust, hate and malice. His manager, Ted Broadrib, had detested his fighter and loved to regale U. S. sport writers with tales of Tommy's pinch penny oddities. Nor was Tommy less candid in his dislike for his manager, preferring to share confidences with his trainer, Tom Evans, and a quaint nondescript named Job Churchill—a trio which the press labelled the "unholy three."

The camp cook hated the chauffeur. The London journalists hated the U. S. writers. Everybody hated each other with a grand, all-for-glory fury that was like something from the violent ward of a psychopathic asylum.

'E'd Murder Joe Louis

"Yeh," said Tommy with an uncompromising, pale-eyed squint, "draw up a chair."

He was hungry for any crumb of information about New York and the heavyweight fight market, vowing with a string of lurid expletives that he could lick 'em all, "lotta second rate siffs." 'Ere 'e was (cuss, cuss) drawing down a bleeding three bob a day as athletic instructor at an airforce camp and belting bums from the army, navy and RAF for blinking fun when 'e might (cuss, cuss) be knocking off 2000 quid a month bustin' a lotta bloody punks in the States.

He was fit, he said, thumping his thorax—in the bleedin' pulsatin' pink. He'd murder Louis now, the ruddy bum. But mostly he prayed for the time when that dash-blank Max Schmeling might parachute down on English soil with Nazi invasion troops; we'd nail his ears to his billet door. Everybody in the U. S. fight racket was a bleedin' thief, and those American sport writers were a set of illiterate, malicious clowns. Yes, Tommy was fit all right! He had lost none of his capacity for spite.

There were only fragmentary whispers about Schmeling, he said. Report was that Max had patched up his status with the top-ranking Nazi "assassins" after being stripped of his private fortune, his shooting lodge, his Pomeranian ferlands and blooded Holstein berda. He had tried to escape, via Lisbon, to America at the outset of the war, but lacked passport and visa. So now he was a parachute trooper with little prospect of long life.

Primo Carnera, said Tommy, spitting out his words like mouthfuls of marbles, was doing military police duty in Milan. The pituitary freak had taken a U. S. newspaperman that he could still lick any man in the world. ("Lk bleedin' Ape") Pauline Ussenden, the famous chapping block, was long since dead by premature explosion of a tin-can bomb ("Wonder what they did with 'is gold teeth?") Hans Kollhaus, a journeyman fighter and former sparring partner at Max Schmeling's Napanoch, N. Y., camp, was slated killed in a Panzer attack on Holland. Philip "Horizontal" Scott, the British foul-hollerer who turned hardensner to the London ladies was a fire warden who had lately been cited for snuffing out a nest of four incendiaries in a children's hospital.

Georges No Longer Gorgeous

Farr has only lately learned from a "Free French" pilot that Georges Carpentier was no longer the "orchid man"; that he was now a wizened, arthritic, hollow-cheeked shadow of his former muscular perfection, doing odd jobs for a pittance in Southern France. He had, the pilot reported, a tubercular cough and a convulsive facial affliction which caused spasmodic jerks.

He had lost everything, his glittering cafe on Paris' Rond Point where the high and low of French sporting life had foregathered. His apartment house in the Place D'lena had been seized for a Nazi officers' club. His bank balance had been taken, and Carpentier himself had escaped from Paris just a whisker ahead of Nazi motorcycle advance troops, driving his flashy, chromium-plated, special-bodied Fiat as far as the petrol lasted and abandoning it in a ditch and hurrying on by foot.

And though, reported the French pilot, Georges was only an empty husk of his once magnificent self, he had delusions of making his way to America, training himself back to health, and fighting his way back up the ladder.

Just now, said Welsh Tommy in a confidential whisper, he (Tommy) was dickering with the London Home Office for permission to sail to New York and fight Nova, Conn and Louis for the British War Relief or the Spitfire fund. A Spitfire or Hurricane costs $20,000 to build, he said, and he could earn that in a couple of fights. He'd donate his entire end. The hard, white light in his eyes had softened as he spoke, the harsh, brazen note in his voice had mellowed. The naive, almost querulous being that lay beneath the callous, embittered outer crust appeared. He asked wistfully about Broadway's lights, about 3-inch beefsteaks, thick pats of creamy butter and scoops of chocolate ice cream.

"I'd fight Louis for a plate of ice cream any day," he vouchsafed. I think he would! Tommy, internally, isn't so tough.

SOX LEAVE; BRAVES FACE GIANTS HERE TOMORROW

The local baseball stage is bare today what with the Red Sox opening a three-game series with the Yankees in New York and the Braves on their way home from a western trip to open a two-game engagement with the New York Giants at the Wigwam tomorrow.

The Cronin clan should be delighted to be on the road; the Stengel crew no less delighted to be homeward bound.

Long noted as a tough club to beat on its own Back Bay yard, the Sox were anything else but in their first stand against the Western entries. Dropping three straight to the Indians, losing two out of three to the Tigers and splitting two-game engagements with the White Sox and Browns, the Fenway favorites finished up with a dismal 3-7 card.

NEED CHANGE OF SCENERY

The traveling Bees, in the meanwhile, were being equally unsuccessful in the West. After dropping the only game they played in Chicago, they rallied in St. Louis by taking two out of three from the pace-setting Cardinals. But then they were knocked off three times running by the champion Reds in Cincinnati and closed the trip by losing a single game in Pittsburgh.

So, it can be safely said, change of scenery can't possibly hurt and might help our native big league entries at this time.

The Sox went to New York without either Bobby Doerr, who pulled a leg muscle last Saturday, or Jim Taber, who wrenched his back last Sunday.

There's a small chance that the Sox will get rolling until their regular second and third basemen return to action.

NEWSOME NO DOERR AT PLATE

True, the team lost four out of five to the White Sox and Indians while Bobby and Jim were in there, but that doesn't alter the fact that the lineup has looked woefully weak with the pair missing.

Skeeter Newsome, who has done a creditable defense job at second, can't be compared offensively with Doerr, who was leading the team in batting in runs when the injury jinx felled him.

The veteran Sammy Hale, filling in at third, has been erratic at first and next to helpless at bat.

Cronin did consider shifting Jimmy Fox to third, moving Lou Finney in from right field to the initial back and placing either Stan Spence or Pete Fox in the garden.

Parkway Gunners End Indoor Season With Twin Victory

Outshooting both the Mystic Valley Gun Club's rifle and pistol teams, the Parkway Rifle and Pistol Club of Jamaica Plain closed its indoor season with a double victory.

The Parkway club was hard pushed in the pistol match, which they won by only four points, and the Parkway club piled up an advantage of more than 100 points in the rifle contest.

President Clarence Horrigan, Pat Philbin, Charles McLaughlin and Frank Devous represented the Parkway club in the pistol matches against the Mystic Valley team's President Sam Ludwig, Sam Common, Apel and Pope.

The Parkway club now moves onto its outdoor range off Route 1A in Dedham.

Dodgers Victims Of 6-Game Slump

By Associated Press

The Brooklyn Dodgers, who paraded into the West last week pointing arrogantly to their record as 1940's leading road team in the National League and to their six victories in seven games away from home in the East this year, are sinking back to Flatbush today with a string of tin cans tied to their tails.

They're in the doghouse because of losing six straight at Pittsburgh, Chicago and finally St. Louis, where they handed over the circuit lead to the Cardinals.

OUTTIT CARDINALS

However, the Dodgers may yet live down this debacle, and now is a good time to say a word in their defense.

For a few days the whole club was panicky. Everything went wrong and Manager Leo (Lippy) Durocher was as jittery as his players. He changed his batting order, his neckties and his diet daily. Yesterday he arrived at the conclusion many another manager had reached before him—to put his defense.

SAINTS TEST CASEY CLUB ON TOWN FIELD

Boston Park League standings took on a new complexion as the entire circuit prepared to swing into action again tonight in playgrounds throughout the city limits.

Five games were on tap with the race a wide-open affair once more now that the Dick Casey Club of Dorchester has been toppled from its undefeated and untied perch.

After winning six straight, it began to look as though the Dorchester outfit would romp to the championship in the Eastern Division. But the Carter's Clothes Club took care of that angle with a neat setback earlier this week.

JOCKOWITZ VS. MUSIL

St. Catharine's Club of Charlestown will try to duplicate this effort tonight at the Dorchester Town Field. Manager Joe McCarthy's team hasn't been the gem of consistency this year but has shown a lot of baseball when winning.

If the Saints can get off on the right foot against John "Jahber" Jockowitz, the Casey's will step into some stiff competition. Jockowitz will draw Tommy Musil as his mound opponent.

The Linehan Club and the Roslindale Town Club will try to dissolve their first-place tie against weaker clubs, both playing home games.

GREEKS NO "POP OVERS"

The South Boston team will draw the Hurley Club of Roxbury while the game at Fallon Field will find the Artesians in the opposing role.

At the Fens Stadium, the Mayor Tobin Club, climbing up in the Western Division standings, will take on the Hellenics. This will be a home game for the Tobins.

The Greek nine, after five straight setbacks at the start of the season, has turned in some fine ball this week and no longer looks like a "pop-over" in league competition.

Stengel's Wisecracks Revive Waner

PITTSBURGH, May 23 (AP)—There must be a secret "pep" vitamin in old Casey Stengel's wisecracks. There's nothing else

Look at Lloyd Waner, the surviving active half of baseball's most famous brother act. Lloyd didn't fit into the Pittsburgh Pirates' plans, so they traded him to Stengel's Boston Braves for Nick Strincevich.

When he returned to Pittsburgh for the first time in an enemy uniform the little fellow was belaboring the pellet for an astronomical average.

Up to yesterday he had 13 hits in 20 times at bat.

"How do you do it, Casey, with mirrors or vitamins?"
"There are no vitamins on this ball club," he cracked back. "I gave Lloyd $10 a day to eat on and he's gained 40 pounds and 500 points at the plate."

This, of course, is a Stengel exaggeration but he's not far wrong at that. A veteran Pittsburgh sports writer swears that Lloyd looked faster beating out a bunt than he did 15 years ago. Then, too, Casey hasn't done so badly with Johnny Cooney, who admitted he's 40 years old

NIGHT BASEBALL IF SOX LET BRAVES INTO PARK

THE NEW BRAVES management is secretly hopeful that Tom Yawkey will relent and permit the National League clubs to play their Boston games at Fenway Park. If Yawkey should agree to a plan by which the Sox and Braves would share the same baseball park, night baseball would probably be played in this city.

The Braves now hold a two-year lease on National League Park. The property is owned by the Gaffney Realty Trust. At the time James E. Gaffney, owner of the Braves back in championship days, built Braves Field in 1915, he set it up under a separate real estate trust with his family owning all of the stock. The real estate trust then leased the ball park to the Braves.

Gaffney felt that over a period of years a baseball park would pay better financial returns than most other things and his judgment has been proved correct.

The Braves originally paid $56,000 a year rental, but when they were reorganized a few years ago the rental was reduced to $36,000. The ball club also pays the taxes and other maintenance charges.

The new owners of the Braves would prefer to play their games at Fenway Park, and would be willing to pay the Red Sox a reasonable compensation for the use of it.

In time the Braves and Red Sox will both adopt night baseball, and they could do it at much less expense if each occupied the same ball park. The modern lights used at Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, cost $110,000. The players say they are able to see the ball well playing under these lights, while there have not been any complaints from the spectators.

IN THE PAST, Yawkey has always said "no" to every effort that has been made to get him to permit the Braves to move into Fenway Park. He has asserted he rebuilt Fenway Park for the Red Sox and that he does not wish to have any tenants.

Yawkey is worth $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 and so if he wishes he can keep Fenway Park for his private use apart from what football games may be played there in the Fall of the year. Tom probably feels much like the owner of a swanky yacht who would not rent it out for any amount of money, but who would gladly permit his friends to use it without charge.

The Braves picture has changed since the last Yawkey refusal. Bob Quinn is the dominant figure in a syndicate that bought the club more to give Boston a winning team than to make money out of baseball. If the Braves should be fortunate enough to earn several hundred thousand dollars, it is a certainty that the money would be put back into the club for new players.

Yawkey might also like to do something for Bob Quinn who sold him the Red Sox for $1,200,000 at a time when Bob was badly distressed financially and anxious to save the money his friends had invested in the club on his advice. I know that many of the members of the Braves syndicate joined up with it because they liked Quinn and felt that with a little financial help he would get the break from baseball that he so richly deserves.

NIGHT BASEBALL has come to stay, and it would help the

McCarthy, Riley, Ballantine Lead in B. C. Captaincy Race

Boston College, which has 20 representatives primed for action in the week-end's annual New England intercollegiate track and field competition, will have a new track captain within the next few days.

The annual election was held two days ago but on that occasion three of the eligible 15 lettermen were unable to vote. Now it appears that an entirely new vote will have to be cast before the Eagles will have a captain to succeed Co-captains Bill Dowd and Joe Shea who graduate this June. The election may be held at the New England either today or tomorrow.

The three junior members of the speedy mile relay team—Johnny Ballantine (Rosindale), Bill Riley (Jamaica Plain) and Ed McCarthy (Medford) are the leading candidates for captaincy honors. Ballantine, Riley and McCarthy have much in common. On the campus the lads are practically a "Three Musketeers" combination. At today's meet—Ballantine joins Co-captain Dowd, the fourth member of last winter's relay team, in the quarter mile competition.

Besides Co-captain Dowd, who is defending titlist in the 440 yard event, Boston College's strongest representation comes from Gil Walker (100 and 220 yard dashes), Al Morro (discus and shot) Joe Zabalski (hammer and javelin), Justin McGowan (javelin and discus) and Adolph Kissell (broad jump and discus).

BRAVES MEET GIANTS HERE TOMORROW

But he has discarded the idea, for some reason or other.

On paper, the Sox seemed stronger in reserves at the start of this season than they had ever been before during the Cronin regime, but the showing of the make-shift infield now operating proves that the reinforcements are nothing to write home about.

Take yesterday's finale with the Browns, for example.

Charlie "Broadway" Wagner had a 1 to 0 lead over Bob Muncie, Brownie rookie, at the close of the seventh.

In the eighth, however, the Browns knotted the score by virtue of two singles separated by a sacrifice and then scored two unearned runs because of an error by Hale. There was no catching them after that and they went on to win, 4 to 1.

Senior Estalella, coming up with two out, hit the ball which Hale booted with hostiles on first and third. The miscue let one tally score and put another in position to be rescued by a McQuinn single. Our third-sacker should never have tried to field the ball in the first place. It was almost in Cronin's glove when Sammy ran over and kicked it as he attempted to pick it up.

BIG LEAGUE DEBUT

Wagner deserved a better fate, but it must be admitted that he had been scored on more than once, earlier in the game, if it hadn't been for spectacular support, particularly from Jimmy Fox.

It must also be admitted that Muncie, a 22-game winner from the Texas League who was making his first big league start, turned in a magnificent seven-inning performance. He yielded only four hits, all singles, and none of these figured in the manufacture of the lone home run, which was hunk up in the fifth.

Lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, the rookie gained credit for the win when Jack Kramer held the natives in check over the last two at-bats.

Dodgers Again Brooklyn 'Bums'

best lineup on the field and to stick to it win, lose or draw.

The Dodgers lost again, 7-4, but they showed they are not yet cowed. The Redbirds scored all their runs off chubby Hugh Casey in the first five innings, four in the second frame when Don Padgett and Johnny Mize punched out home runs. Yet Brooklyn out-hit the Redbirds, 13-11, and went down battling.

The Cincinnati Reds meanwhile took a 6-4 victory from the New York Giants. Ernie Lombardi hit a home run in the first inning with the bases loaded and Frank McCormick pounded his eighth of the season with one on in the third.

YANKS GRAB THIRD PLACE

The Cleveland Indians, who used to go to pieces on the road, edged out the Washington Senators, 4-3, for their seventh triumph in 10 contests in the East. The Senators were held to six hits, but Cecil Travis teed off on two triples, one of them with the bases loaded in the sixth, and the Tribe had to come from behind to win.

The Chicago White Sox held determinedly to second place in the American League by whacking the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-1, behind the six-hit hurling of John Rigney. Billy Keelickerbocker hit a homer and a double.

Yankees advanced to third place by capturing their third straight victory. They beat Detroit, 6-5, with Bill Dickey hitting his third home run in four days to clinch the argument in the eighth.

BUDDY BAER 237 1-2, JOE LOUIS 201 3-4

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Buddy Baer had a 35½ pound weight edge on Joe Louis today when they weighed in for their heavyweight title bout in Griffith Stadium tonight. The challenger tipped the beam at 237½ pounds, while Louis scaled 201½.

After tonight's bout with Buddy Baer, which will mark the 17th defense of his title, the heavyweight champion plans to fight about twice more this summer and then see if he can't rustle himself a commission.

He has gained the consent of his managers and plainly is looking forward to his "vacation" from the grind.

The glow of the fight game has faded for Joe. As he sat in another hot basement room yesterday prior to another of the unending rub-downs, he didn't seem to want to talk about tonight's fight.

JOE IN NO HURRY FOR K. O.

He wanted to talk baseball, or to discuss his next fight with Billy Conn at New York on June 18, as though he could hasten the day.

"It will be good for him to get away for a year," said co-manager Julian Black.

"He's decided if his number doesn't come up by fall he'll join up anyway. He'll get a big kick out of it and feel better. I imagine they would want him in the physical training, something like Gene Tunney. He could study up for a commission."

Joe didn't say anything for the moment, just sat there and looked hot. He didn't want to predict that he would score a quick knockout over the younger of the Baer brothers tonight. He said a man couldn't afford to get in too big a hurry in weather like Washington is enduring right now.

"Did you see where that Billy Cona is going to train with a sledge-hammer?" he chuckled. "Gonna hit one of those things and ring a bell, like in a carnival. Somebody better tell Billy he can't take that hammer in the ring with him."

LOUIS CONFIDENT

Clearly, Joe has no doubt that will dispose of Baer tonight, as Conn next month and then knock over either Abe Simon or Lou Nova before looking up a recruiting officer.

"That way he could go in the Army feeling like he had whipped everybody," said Black.

Tonight's crowd promised to be large and noisy. Promoter Mike Jacobs, having watched the advance sale for some days, forecast a total gate of $125,000, which would be terrific for Washington. Several cabinet members and a bevy of Senators and such will be at the ringside.

"The only trouble," Mike grumbled, "is that most of the guys around here who can afford to buy $15 seats want peace. Boy, what a list."

GOOD FIGHT POSSIBLE

Buddy Baer, who never has been as noisy as his brother Max, seems to have worked hard and made no wild statements about what he would do to Louis. Baer's only promise has been to stand up and make a fight of it.

Buddy always has had plenty of heart, and he has a terrific kick in his right flat to go with his great size. It might be a good fight, particularly if it remains hot and humid and Louis doesn't feel like rushing things.

Kaplan Rallies To Beat Camuso

FALL RIVER, May 23 (AP)—Mike Kaplan, 144, New England welterweight champion, was floored twice here by Freddy Camuso, 145½, Fall River, but the Boston title-holder finished strongly to gain a unanimous 12-round decision.

A right hook to the jaw sent Kaplan to the canvas for a nine-count in the opening round and he went down again in the seventh on a left to the chin. This time he bounced up before count and outclassed Camuso from that round to the end.

Pirates, Phillies Advance Sept. Game

PITTSBURGH, May 23 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game scheduled for Monday, Sept. 15, would be played as part of a doubleheader here Sunday, June 22. The change was made by mutual agreement, Pirate President William E. Benavenger said.

Freddie Steele Dons Gloves After 2-Year Absence

HOLLYWOOD, May 23 (AP)—Freddie Steele of Tacoma, Wash., former world middleweight champion, ends a two-year absence from the ring tonight in a 10-round bout with Jimmy Cassin of Los Angeles.

Steele retired in 1933 after he was knocked out by Al Hostak in one round. That cost him his claim to the title. Previously he had lost to Fred Apostoli in New York in what Steele regarded as a non-title bout.

DANCER—With fire in his eye, B. F. Mechini's My First, 5-year-old, resists savagely efforts of starter to place him in his stall at Charles Town. The rider is W. Dufford. My First's actions earned him a place on the steward's list. At that, the Happy Time horse managed to run second in the race to Balkanese.

WRIGLEY'S ORDER KEPT DIZZY ON CUBS' PAYROLL

(The Special AP News Service)

The order that kept Dizzy Dean on the payroll as coach came direct from the office of P. K. Wrigley. . . Also, Mr. Wrigley refused to sanction a deal for Billy Herman until he was sure the veteran was going to a club with a good chance of getting into the World Series.

When Max West and Gene Moore let a fly ball between them the other day in Redland, Casey Stengel stood in front of the dugout where all could see and pasted a piece of adhesive tape across his mouth. West and Moore got the idea right away.

No two teams in the majors came nearer to a tie in team records last year than Boston and Detroit. . . Each beat the other 11 times. . . Boston won six and lost five in Detroit. . . Detroit won six and lost five in Boston. . . Each finished with a team batting average of .286. . . But Detroit won the pennant while Boston tied with Chicago for fourth place.

Mickey Owen must have lost the four-leaf clover his mama sent him to get the Dodgers out of their slump. . . Auburn and Mississippi State will sign a new four-year football contract any day now.

The Yankees, who have been getting nothing but buggy rides lately, are looking forward to their forthcoming boat trip to Norfolk for an exhibition game with the Piedmont League farmhands.

So far, Joe DiMaggio has made six assists this season, one more than he had all last year. . . Mike Jacobs was having such a good time in Washington counting up the Baer-Louis advance sale he didn't come up for last night's Christofordigo-Lesnevich tile go in the Garden.

Wilbur Shaw, three-time winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race, flew in last night long enough to attend Major Bowes' amateur night. . . Mrs. Buckly Walker went under the knife for appendicitis yesterday in Cincinnati. . . ## Jockey, Trainer Die Same Day

CHICAGO, May 23 (AP)—A jockey and a former trainer of thoroughbreds, both familiar figures in Chicago's turf scene, died yesterday.

Ray Hightshoe, 23-year-old jockey from Greenwood, Nev., died at West Suburban Hospital of pneumonia complicated by blood poisoning. He became ill several weeks ago while riding at the Sportsman's Park meeting. He is survived by his widow, Shirley, and a 9-month-old daughter.

Frank M. Taylor, who retired from the turf seven years ago after a long career in which he trained horses for Harry Sinclair, Lucky Baldwin and C. R. Shaffer's Coldstream Stable, died at his home.

National Open Golf Field Out Monday

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—The make-up of the field for the National Open Golf Championship June 5-7 at Ft. Worth, Texas, will be decided Monday when 1009 players, 623 of them professionals and the other 386 amateurs, match strokes on 27 widely-separated courses in sectional eliminations.

From these tournaments will come the players to fill 128 of the 170 positions. The remainder of the list will consist of top scorers in last year's open at Cleveland and others exempted from qualifying tests.

The list of entries shows many a well-known performer who must battle through 36 holes to get a chance at the big prize, won last year by Lawson Little.

Among the 35 slated to tee off at the Ridgewood, N. J., Country Club are Jimmy Thomson, Paul Runyan, Charles Haefner, Tony Penna, Al Brosh and the five Turnesa brothers. Unknown at Chicago will battle such par-smashers as Johnny Bulla, Harry Cooper, Denny Shute, Dutch Harrison, Jay Lafoon and amateur Doering.

Among the other competitors are such top-flight linksmen as amateur champion Dick Chapman at Birmingham; former tennis champion Ellsworth Vines, Charley Leacy, Willie Hunter and George Von Elm at Pacific Palisades, Calif.; former amateur king Bud Ward at Portland, Ore.; Don Schumacher and amateur threats Billy Bob Coffey, Rufus King, Harry Todd Jack Munger and Royal Hogan Dallas; Willie Turnesa, also former amateur champion, at Detroit; and Sammy Byrd and the Joe Kirkwoods, father and son, at Philadelphia.

Whirlaway Scratched

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—Whirlaway, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, was scratched today from the 1st Pan Handicap at Belmont Park, in which he was slated to meet Cole, the colt he whipped in the Preakness after trailing the favorite.

Trainer Ben Jones decided to withdraw the three-year-old champion from the mile and eighth $7500 race after conferring with owner Warren Wright this morning. They decided, since Eddie Arcaro was not available to pilot the Son of Eleventh, they would not match him against such a speed horse as King Cole, to whom he was asked to give six pounds.

Jones had entered Whirlaway with the hopes Arcaro would be available, but the pence of Mrs. Payne Whitney's today Lunch meant Eddie would have to work for his boss. Tuesday, Whirlaway defeated Midland, 1st ranking handicap performer and three other older horses, with Wendell Eads in the saddle.

Although Whirlaway easily he was drifting out of the way through the stretch Jones indicated he would look for another spot for Whirlaway

'Jug' Shoots 2d Par In Goodall Robin

By BILL GRIMES

FRESH MEADOW COUNTRY CLUB, Flushing, L. I., May 23—Duplicating his first-round par, Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Winchester, picked up three points in the second round of the fourth annual Goodall Round Robin invitation here this morning.

As was the case in the first round, McSpaden had 16 pars, one "bird" and one bogey. As again, he was pitted against another 33 "in" nine, this time by Tony Penna, Akron, O.

Clayton Heafner gave the party. McSpaden took him for three points and Penna for the same number.

McSpaden's drive off the fifth tee hit a youngster just above the temple, and for a time it looked as though the boy was seriously injured.

Although he got his par at that hole, McSpaden was noticeably upset and off the sixth tee he pushed his tee shot out into the fifth fairway.

Just as soon as he was assured that the boy was all right, however, McSpaden settled down and starting to click off pars.

Jug was one up on both Penna and Heafner at the turn. He was one up on Heafner at the first but he pulled his drive off the second tee behind the tree and wound up with a five which cost him two points.

Then he hit one out of bounds at the third but holed a thirty putt for his putt to save two points.

McSpaden squared his account with Penna at the long fifth with a par and went to one up over Heafner. Heafner missed a two point putt at the sixth and a pulled second shot, which landed in a trap was expensive for Penna at the eighth.

CANS 14-FOOT PUTT

McSpaden canned a 14-foot putt for a deuce at the 12th, but picked up only one point, for Penna holed his for a halve. Penna caught McSpaden at the 15th where he came up with his second birdie of the nine and went out in front of the Winchester pro with another "bird" at the 17th.

Going to the home hole, Heafner was four down to both of his opponents and Penna was one up on McSpaden, but he missed the green with his second and took a dead five to lose two points. And then Heafner holed a putt for a birdie which took two points off his deficit. McSpaden's par was good enough to square his match with Penna.

Going into the third round this afternoon, Horton Smith was leading the field with plus ten, three points out in front of Lawson Little and Jimmy Demaret, with Vic Ghezzi and Tony Penna tied for fourth, two points in front of Jug McSpaden and Sarazen.

DEMARET GREAT

Jimmy Demaret and Corp. Ed Porky Oliver were the big winners this morning. Demaret did a job on Ben Hogan, the defending champion, finishing 5 holes up and he beat Vic Ghezzi, by 2 holes for a total of 8 points.

Corp. Oliver, who was taken for 9 points in the first round, retrieved 8 this morning by shooting par golf. He finished 8 holes up on Willie Goggin and had a 2-hole lead over Ghezzi at the finish of the round.

Braves Long for Fenway

Red Sox and Braves as it has other American and National League clubs.

Connie Mack, the general of the old guard in baseball, believes the Red Sox would make a wise move if they adopted night baseball. Mack has told Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins how night baseball has benefited the Athletics.

Joe Cronin, Jimmy Foxx and some of the other old Red Sox players are opposed to night baseball. They contend, and probably with some justification, that night baseball is a greater strain on the eyes than when one is playing under natural light. Despite this condition, night baseball is gaining in strength each year, and has been well received by the fans in those cities that have installed modern lighting plants.

With millions of men regularly employed in defense work, afternoon baseball is sure to suffer. Men are not going to sacrifice a day's pay at high wages even to see their favorite ball club in action.

Week-end baseball, like other week-end sports, will draw record crowds, but the early and middle of the week games will show attendance decreases as a result of the boom in defense operations.

There are also a million young men in Army camp, and they will not have the opportunities to see ball games that they had before they entered service.

It would seem that all of these conditions would eventually force the Red Sox and Braves to adopt night baseball. If they do, they should have the best lighting facilities. From the standpoint of efficiency and friendship they could operate much better if both clubs used Fenway Park.

If the Braves are unable to secure Fenway Park, they will probably make extensive alterations at National League Park which will make it one of the best ball parks in the country. The Braves management would rather avoid such a move if possible, and put its money into players rather than into concrete stands and steel posts.

Races at Woodbine Despite Strike

TORONTO, May 23 (AP)—The Thoroughbred Breeders' Association, demanding the incorporated Canadian Racing Association recognize Ryland A. New as its nominee for the I. C. R. A. board, called a strike yesterday and refused to enter horses for today's eight-race card.

Heroes and Goats

By International News Service
HEROES: Ernie Lombardi, Reds, whose homer with bases loaded beat Giants. Johnny Rigney, White Sox, who held Athletics to six hits. Bob Muscarello, Browns, who shut out Red Sox.

GOATS—Buck Newsome, Tigers, routed by Yanks. Sid Hudson, Senators, who blew lead and game in ninth. Bill McGee, Giants, who gave up six runs on two home runs in the bottom of the ninth. Hugh Casey, Dodgers, routed by Cardinals.

WEATHER REPORT

Official U. S. Weather Bureau Forecast
LOCAL—Occasional showers or thunderstorms followed by clearing and cooler tonight; Saturday fair, cooler than today; lowest temperature tonight near 58 degrees; gentle westerly shifting to moderate northerly winds tonight; moderate northerly winds Saturday.

MAINE AND NEW HAMPSHIRE—Partly cloudy, preceded by scattered showers and thunderstorms in extreme south portion, and cooler tonight; Saturday fair, cooler today over the south portion; Sunday fair with moderate temperature.
VERMONT—Partly cloudy, cooler tonight; Saturday fair, cooler than today over south portion; Sunday fair with moderate temperature.
CONNECTICUT AND RHODE ISLAND—Scattered showers and thunderstorms followed by clearing and cooler tonight; Saturday fair, cooler than today; Sunday fair with moderate temperature.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

The persistence of a southeasterly current of warm, moist air which has resulted in a hot wave over New England during the last two days will continue tonight, causing record high temperatures. Southerly thunderstorms will form in this moist air, bringing relief to some localities this afternoon. A stream of cooler air is flowing southward across northwestern New York and Pennsylvania, the middle Mississippi valley and the central plains, replacing the warm air. This cooler air will move across New England, causing lower temperatures tonight and Saturday. Thunderstorms will accompany the front of the cool air through New England tonight.

Extended forecast for New England for the period 7:30 a. m., today, to 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, May 24: The temperature during the next five days will average two to seven degrees above normal. Normal for the period are: Boston and Burlington, Vt., 60; New Haven, Ct., 61; Concord, N. H., 61; Portland, Me., 60. Cool weather at the beginning of the period and cooler again at the end of the period. Rainfall will total heavy, more than two-thirds of an inch occurring on two or three of the seven days of the period and in eastern and southern New England Friday night.

DOG RACING OPENS TONIGHT AT RAYNHAM

RAYNHAM PARK, May 23 — "The Chief" starts his way round the oval at Raynham Park at 8:15 tonight and the greyhound racing season for Massachusetts is under way. It will be a 50-day meeting.

A novelty will be introduced in the form of usherettes. Ten attractive young ladies clad in most fetching uniforms will be on service in the great grandstand to usher those who have reserved seats and boxes. This innovation is due to the fact that many young men were called for service either in the Army or in defensive work. For the inaugural Sweepstakes tonight Racing Secretary Leo F. Hartwell has grouped a fine pack of greyhounds. My Topper, from the kennel of Bud Carroll, heads the list. This one which many look to be a successor to the great Rural Riley was a consistent winner in Florida this past season. Then comes Fred Whitehead's great female, Fritz Ritz, which bested My Topper here in a thrilling schooling race last Tuesday night.

Sonny Alderson's great rail runner King Cole will be another starter as will Joe Ayotte's Busy Court and Mrs. Marie C. Spark's Daily Escort which won the Rickard Memorial at Miami Beach in April.

Others in the field are Dainty Kit, Lucky Rose and Tim's Court. The first race tonight will start promptly at 8:15 with the daily double windows closing ten minutes earlier at 8:05. The last race will be run off in sufficient time to allow all to leave the track not later than 11:30.

The Old Whammy!

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., May 23 (AP)—Lefty Covington, ace pitcher of the Fort Pierce Bombers, may not be superstitious, but he had cause to wonder today.

Lefty, with 12 straight wins, coaxed his thirteenth last night in the second game of a double-header with Miami Beach.

The game was called at the end of the sixth as a scoreless tie, because of the midnight rule.

Lefty allowed only four hits, but his opponent, Gene Bearden, had held the Bombers to five.

Fort Pierce won the first game, 10 to 2.
